Russians Sending War Supplies To Libya: U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has expanded its military aid to another Arab state with a shipment of equipment, including tanks, to Libya, U.S. sources say.

They report a Russian vessel recently landed a cargo of T54 and T55 medium tanks, trucks and other vehicles at Tripoli, apparently the first shipload of Russian-supplied military gear to reach Libya.

U.S. Concerned
This development is significant, in the view of U.S. intelligence analysts, because it indicates the Libyans may have decided to turn to the Russians for their army equipment.

Although the Tripoli regime is considered in the leftist Arab camp, U.S. authorities have been hopeful the new Libyan leaders would not tie their country to the Soviets.

At least six other Arab countries are receiving military equipment and are considered generally to side with the Soviets against the United States on most issues: Egypt, Syria, Algeria, the Sudan, Iraq and Yemen.

King Overthrown
The struggle for the strategically located North African nation has been under way since last September when young Libyan army officers overthrew the generally pro-American King Idris.

The British and the Americans evacuated military bases at the request of the revolutionary government; the United States turning over its big Wheelus Air Base near Tripoli early last month.

U.S. Sent Planes
The United States has supplied Libya with some F5 Freedom Fighter jets. In addition, the Libyans have been discussing with the French the possibility of acquiring some Mirage jet fighters.

No Timetable For S. Korea GI Withdrawal
HONOLULU (AP) — A U.S.-South Korea defense conference has ended without a timetable for withdrawing almost a third of the 62,000 U.S. troops stationed in the Asian nation.

At the end of the two-day meeting Wednesday, a U.S. source said the withdrawal of 20,000 men would be a topic of "continuing consultation" with South Korean officials.

In Seoul, South Korean President Chung Hee Park said his government is "strongly opposed" to any U.S. troop cut-back in Korea in the next four or five years.

It was Park's first official reaction to the U.S. withdrawal plan.

South Korean Premier Chung Il-kwon had said earlier that he and his 10-man Cabinet would resign if the troops were withdrawn.

Park said the next four or five years would be the "most challenging and trying period for our national defense." He said North Korea realizes that South Korea's military and economic strength by 1976 will reach a stage which would force the Communist North to reconsider any plans to invade his country.

Weather
ESCANABA AND VICINITY—Mostly sunny and warm today, high in the lower 80s. Increasing cloudiness and mild tonight with lows near 50. Mostly cloudy and warm Friday with a high near 80. Winds west to southwest 10 to 15 m.p.h. today becoming south to southeast tonight 10 to 12 m.p.h. tonight and southeasterly Friday 10 to 20 m.p.h. Escanaba's high Wednesday was 80 with a low reading of 56 recorded overnight. Probabilities of precipitation: near zero today, 20 per cent tonight and Friday. Sun sets today at 6:26 and rises Friday at 5:22.

Canadian Fire Threatens Rare Whooping Crane
CALGARY, Alta. (AP) — A forest fire was advancing on the nesting grounds of the rare whooping cranes in Wood Buffalo National Park today, and about 110 troops were dispatched to help fight it.

"The fire is rapidly approaching their habitat," said a spokesman for the park service. "We have a critical situation there."

Dr. A. H. Macpherson, western director for the Canadian Wildlife Service, said 50 to 60 of the adult birds are in the park, plus yearling young and an unknown number that have hatched this summer.

Nine fires were reported burning over about 20,000 acres in the park, which straddles the border between Alberta and the Northwest Territories. Five of the fires were reported out of control.

The flock of big white cranes in Wood Buffalo Park is the only band of the birds that exist in the wild. Another 21 whoopers are in captivity. The wild birds winter at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge along the Texas Gulf Coast.

Bruce Will Offer New Peace Plan To Red Elements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador David K.E. Bruce headed for Saigon today and consultations with South Vietnamese leaders before taking over as chief U.S. peace negotiator in Paris.

Confer With Nixon
Bruce and Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, U.S. envoy to South Vietnam, left Washington Wednesday following discussions with President Nixon and other officials on projected new U.S. peace proposals at the stalemated Paris talks.

These tentative new proposals reportedly are designed to offer Communist elements in South Vietnam an opportunity to share post-war political power in Saigon as part of an over-all agreement for ending the war and getting both U.S. and North Vietnamese armies out of the country.

Coalition Unfavorable
Such proposals, implying some kind of future coalition government, are a sore point between the Nixon administration and Saigon.

Bruce presumably wants to form a first-hand impression of President Nguyen Van Thieu's stand on this issue and what proposition Thieu is prepared to accept.

Nixon reportedly has decided to move slowly in presenting new proposals to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese at Paris. They may not be formulated and introduced before September.

Habib Paris Bound
Meanwhile, Ambassador Philip C. Habib returned to Paris Wednesday to continue as acting head of the U.S. team until Bruce takes over. Habib has been chief U.S. negotiator since Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge resigned last December.

The issue of how to form the peacetime government in Saigon, and particularly what assurances might be given the Communists in advance of elections, is regarded by many well-informed diplomats as the central issue of the peace talks.

Six Hijackers Land In Cairo, Plane Returns
ATHENS (AP) — The Arab hijacking of a Greek airliner ended with the arrival of the hijackers in Cairo, the safe return of the plane and its crew to Athens early today, and a promise of freedom for seven Arab terrorists held in Greece.

The hijackers, five men and a girl, released the plane's 47 other passengers and one of its eight crew members after the Greek government agreed to free two Arabs accused of bombing an Israeli airline office in Athens and five others serving terms of two to 17 years for two attacks on Israeli airliners at the Athens airport.

Authorities said the seven would be turned over to the International Red Cross one month after the two charged in the airline office bombing last November stand trial. The trial is scheduled to open Friday, and the two men are charged with murder, a Greek child having been fatally injured.

The hijackers commandeered the Olympic Airways Boeing 727 shortly after it took off from Beirut on a flight to Athens and Rome. After it landed at Athens, the Arabs rebuffed a number of offers, including one by the airline's owner, Aristotle Onassis, to become their host in return for the passengers' freedom.

Onassis also offered them an undisclosed sum of money, but the hijackers insisted on freedom for the seven Arab prisoners. The government finally agreed to the demand.

The plane flew to Cairo with the hijackers, seven crew members and an International Red Cross representative aboard as a hostage for the arrival in Egypt. The hijackers were met by Egyptian officials and driven away on a bus, and the plane returned to Athens. The Red Cross representative remained in Cairo.

The Popular Struggle Front, a small leftist organization of Palestinian guerrillas, announced in Damascus that it was responsible for the hijacking. The two Arabs who go on trial Friday are members of the Front.

Colleagues Want Unruly Lawyers To Be Penalized
WASHINGTON (AP) — Prominent trial lawyers recommended today that judges combat courtroom disturbances by knocking unruly lawyers out of the case or suspending their right to appear in the court for six months.

In a report, the American College of Trial Lawyers also encouraged contempt action and disbarment proceedings against lawyers who engage in disruptive trial tactics.

Threat To Judicial Process
The report said such tactics pose a "new, direct, jugular threat to the judicial process."

To arm judges with suspension powers, the 2,000-member group's committee on disruption of the judicial process recommended passage of new authorization laws where they don't already exist.

"Disbarment would continue to be the function of traditional disciplinary proceedings in appropriate situations," the report said. "While they were getting under way, however, suspension of the right to appear in court would prevent an evil from continuing or spreading."

Millitants Rapped
The committee, headed by a New York City lawyer Whitney North Seymour, said disruptive tactics by defendants, their attorneys and sometimes by prosecutors—"threaten to become systematized and popularized among small but militant segments of the profession and the general public."

The report added: "Recently lawyers responsible for courtroom disturbances have been warmly welcomed by university students—even law students—as if, somehow, these conduct was responsible and heroic."

See Encouragement
"Little thought seems to have been given to the fact that aside from the violation of traditional standards of professional duty, such conduct prejudices the interests of the clients, however much they may encourage and participate in it."

"Furthermore, it prejudices others who may be tried in the future, because members of the public are revolted by this degradation of the courts and the precious right of fair trial."

Seymour is a former president of the American Bar Association.

N. Vietnamese Force GIs To Abandon Base
SAIGON (AP) — Heavy North Vietnamese fire that killed 61 Americans and wounded 345 in the area in the past three weeks forced the United States today to abandon a patrol base in the northwestern sector of South Vietnam.

The U.S. troops hastily pulled out of Fire Base Ripcord near the Laotian border, spiking some of their own artillery, less than 24 hours after a patrol operating a mile away suffered the heaviest casualties in a single action in 2½ months.

The U.S. Command, revising its casualty figures, said 12 Americans were killed and 51 wounded in a mortar and ground attack Wednesday on patrol operating a mile from the base. Enemy losses were unknown. The command earlier had listed six wounded.

A command spokesman said CH47 Chinook helicopter was shot down during the evacuation but there were no casualties.

The base was evacuated under enemy fire, and at least three more Americans were killed and 20 wounded in the withdrawal.

The base, on a 1,000-foot ridge north of the A Shau Valley and 13 miles from Laos had been in operation for the past 3½ months and had been under mortar siege since July 1.

Troops of the 101st Airborne Division operating in and around the base screened enemy infiltration corridors leading from Laos and North Vietnam toward South Vietnam's northern coast.

As one officer put it, the paratroopers were to "keep track of what's going on and to prevent the North Vietnamese from moving into the lowlands where all the population is."

It was the first time since Nov. 2 that U.S. forces had abandoned a patrol base under enemy pressure and destroyed the guns to keep them out of enemy hands.

On Wednesday the enemy sprang an ambush as the patrol was operating a mile east of the base.

2 Persons Killed
GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Two persons were killed Wednesday night in a two-car head-on crash in northeast Kent County.

The victims were identified as Vincent Brinker, 68, of Reed City, and Beulah McIntyre, 57, of Cedar Springs. Brinker's wife and Mrs. McIntyre's husband were reported in critical condition.

There is an increasing skepticism on the part of businessmen about the extent to which he Nixon administration is committed to the minority enterprise effort, Kugel told the subcommittee. "Businessmen involved in local programs often hesitate to expand their efforts in the face of this uncertainty."

Motorcycles Part Of Collins' Defense

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Exactly one year ago today, Karen Sue Beineman rode away from an Ypsilanti wig shop astride a motorcycle and disappeared until her battered nude body was discovered four days later.

Today, two women who work at the wig shop were scheduled to tell a Washtenaw County Circuit Court jury that the motorcycle driver was John Norman Collins.

Mrs. Joan Goshe, owner of the shop called Wigs by Joan, and her employee Patricia Spaulding, are the only persons who have ever reported seeing Collins with the 18-year-old Eastern Michigan University freshman from Grand Rapids.

But the women's appearance in court was delayed by a long recess during which two motorcycles owned by Collins were brought into court from a barn in which they were stored.

The defense asked that the motorcycles, a blue triumph and a green one, be produced. The request came during testimony by Karen Naylor, who said she had a date with Collins last July 23 but the youth never showed up.

The motorcycles are relevant to the girl's testimony because she told the court she and Collins had often ridden their motorcycles together.

The motorcycles have figured in the testimony of a variety of witnesses who saw the 23-year-old Collins on the day Miss Beineman disappeared.

Seven young women told the jury Wednesday that they saw Collins riding a motorcycle near the college campus last July 23. All seven witnesses said they saw Collins in the area between the campus and the wig shop during the hours of 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. that day.

Tuesday's witnesses included three young women who were ready to testify that Collins asked them to take a ride on his motorcycle the day Miss Beineman vanished.

But defense objections brought a judicial ruling forbidding them to testify about their conversations with Collins leading to the invitations to go for a ride.

Circuit Judge John W. Conlin did allow the three young women — Mrs. Sandra Herrera, Eileen Gale and Mary Martha Thompson — to testify about meeting Collins last July 23 and talking with him.

But the prosecution was told not to ask about their conversations with Collins.

All three pointed out Collins in the courtroom and gave descriptions of his motorcycle and the clothes he wore that day.

President Nixon's decision to create a new Environmental Protection Agency—EPA—was based in part "on the need to avoid the institutional biases of existing agencies," Dwight A. Ink, assistant director of the Office of Management and Budget, said today.

Ink's testimony to a House subcommittee appeared to be a reply to congressional backers of Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel's hope to concentrate government pollution-fighting activities in his department.

Ink told a House government operations subcommittee studying the plan that existing agencies have their own missions which affect their views of environmental matters.

"To vest all the EPA programs in one of those departments is apt to result in a particular slant to those activities and questions as to its objectivity in dealing with matters affecting and controlling other departments," Ink said.

The government is not downgrading antipollution efforts by placing them in a non-Cabinet level agency, he added.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Arms and munitions bound for Vietnam are being stolen in California and sold through an underground market in which narcotics sometimes are used for money, an investigator has told a Senate panel.

"An acid head possessing an unstable explosive is enough to make any law enforcement officer lose sleep at night," Charles A. O'Brien, California's deputy attorney general, told the Senate Investigations subcommittee Wednesday.

"And that's what we have in California right now," he added. "There's a market for hand grenades and they're stealing the stuff," O'Brien said, referring to recent munitions thefts from U.S. military shipments going through the Port of Oakland and Port Chicago, Calif.

Egyptians Set To Talk Peace?

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times quotes a diplomatic source in Cairo as saying that Egypt told the United States Wednesday that it was ready to stop shooting and begin talks on the basis of U.N. resolutions.

However, Egypt insisted that the resolutions call for restoration of what it described as the legitimate rights of Palestinians and for Israel's withdrawal from all territory occupied in 1967, the Times said in a story from Cairo today.

According to the source, Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad indicated to U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers that Egyptian officials were prepared to go along with procedures outlined by Rogers in his peace initiative last month, the newspaper said.

In a letter Rogers called for a three-month cease fire, negotiations to be conducted through a U.N. mediator and adherence to Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967.

The resolution gives the basic outline of a proposed Middle East settlement.

Businessmen Skeptical Of Minority Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has concluded, much to the surprise of a presidential advisory panel, that businessmen are increasingly skeptical of the Nixon administration's commitment to its own minority enterprise program.

Minority groups, mainly blacks, have been openly doubtful of the White House's intentions and the Commerce Department has at times been faced with near-open revolt in its Office of Minority Business Enterprise, but a finding of skepticism among businessmen — the key to the administration's stated goal of enlisting the private sector — is new.

The message was delivered in private last week to a subcommittee of the Advisory Council for Minority Enterprise by Owen Kugel, the Chamber's coordinator for urban affairs.

The council, made up of private citizens named by President Nixon, is headed by Sam Wyls, a Dallas computer millionaire.

"There is an increasing skepticism on the part of businessmen about the extent to which the Nixon administration is committed to the minority enterprise effort," Kugel told the subcommittee. "Businessmen involved in local programs often hesitate to expand their efforts in the face of this uncertainty."

Barrett Ends Six Years As School Superintendent

Luther M. Barrett, who has been superintendent of the Escanaba Area Public Schools for the past six years, has submitted his resignation as the district's chief administrator to return to classroom teaching.

The Board of Education at an informal committee meeting Wednesday night agreed to release Barrett from the remaining one year on his contract and appoint him to a position as an English teacher in the Area High School.

The action will be ratified at the board's next official meeting, Aug. 11.

An immediate search for a successor will be initiated, the Board said.

Barrett will remain as superintendent of schools until a new superintendent is named. Hired in 1964

Barrett joined the Escanaba Area public schools in 1964, taking over as superintendent on Aug. 1, 1964, from Walter Bright. During his six years, the school district constructed three new elementary schools—new Jefferson, Washington and Franklin—and built additions to the Lemmer, Soo Hill and Wells schools.

Curriculum improvements also were implemented and the district developed supplementary programs under federal guidelines.

"I have, for the most part, enjoyed my six years as superintendent of the Escanaba Area public schools," Barrett said today. "I feel I have done a good job for the community and could continue to do so. However, for a number of years I have felt that I eventually wanted to get back to the classroom. I have felt that I wished to end my career in public education on the level at which it started—working directly with the student.

Escanaba Is Home
"At the same time," Barrett continued, "my family and I have determined that we wish to remain in Escanaba. This is our home. With a teaching staff as stable as the Escanaba staff, vacancies in my fields of preparation do not come too frequently. When an English opening developed just a few days ago, I felt this was the opportunity I should seize.

"I appreciate the willingness of the board to release me from the one year remaining on my superintendent's contract and permit me to fill the vacancy."

Barrett said his undergraduate major at DePauw University was English and that he has taught English at the high school level. "In addition, I have been able to keep abreast with the new developments in the field in my capacity as an administrator.

"During the 23 years I have served as a public school administrator, I have seen the concept of the job change completely," Barrett said. "No longer is he (an administrator) really an educator. He wears many other hats. The real enjoyment in working in the field of education comes from the work with youth in the classroom and in their other activities. I am looking forward with great anticipation to that work."

Other Changes

The resignation of Barrett as superintendent will give the Escanaba Area public schools an almost totally new administrative staff for the 1970-71 school year, if the Board of Education is able to find a successor.

Earlier, Robert Micensky resigned as principal of the high school to return to classroom teaching. He was succeeded by Roy Hivala, who has been principal at the Junior High. No successor to Hivala at the Junior High has been appointed.

Barrett, who graduated from high school at Topeka, Kan., received his bachelor's degree at DePauw University in 1940 and his master's degree from the University of Michigan in 1951. He was employed as a teacher and administrator at Howe, Ind., Military School; Dye Community School, Flint, and Utley Public School, Flint, before accepting the superintendency of the Kentwood public schools near Grand Rapids.

He served in the Kentwood system for 11 years before coming to Escanaba. Barrett and his wife, Barbara, reside at 101 S. 2nd St. They have two children, James Barrett, a teacher, and Sally, a student at Adrian College.

Priorities Needed On Moral Values, Institute Advised

"Organizing, but never organizing; developing leadership, none permanent; maturing, but never matured" were the words offered to participants of the Family Enrichment Institute's workshop for family life directors being held this week at the Marygrove Center at Garden for Christian Renewal. The participants come from Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

"Among the many things we need to do in our parishes is to get our mixed-up moral values into a proper priority," advised Lloyd Casey, workshop director and religious education coordinator of Holy Family Parish, Denver, Colo.

"When you stop to think about it," Casey observed, "we feel completely free to talk about war and killing, but we are also completely hung up on sex. Are we satisfied that this is our moral priority?"

"And if you wonder what your role is in this," he continued, "stop and consider for a moment that you may not be what you think you are; but what you think, you are."

In addition to talking about the philosophies essential to good family and personal enrichment programs, the workshop also explored materials and programs available for enrichment, as well as group techniques and alternatives for organizing and continuing parish enrichment programs.

Also planned by the Family

Enrichment Institute from Aug. 16-22 is an experimental workshop "Preparing Children for the Twenty-first Century." The Institute's programs and workshops are open to all interested persons. ## Ness Chosen To Construct New College Building

Contractor Roy Ness of Escanaba was selected by the Bay de Noc Community College Governing Board to construct a health-education convocation building at the new campus, at the Board meeting Wednesday night.

The cost will be $225,000 under the proposal submitted by Ness and the square foot cost will be $15.62, according to Dr. Richard Rinehart, College president.

The building will be the third one on the campus and will be used for teaching physical education and for holding a convocation or large lecture audience. The pre-engineered building will have brick masonry panels that match the other buildings on the campus.

Ness is scheduled to begin construction immediately and the project is expected to be completed within four months. Dr. Rinehart said students are required to take physical education in all of the associate degree programs, and the building is necessary for this program.

"The other purpose of convocations is necessary for all occasions involving more students than the largest classroom on campus will hold. This is a lecture hall with 73 seats in the classroom-library building. The College will find it necessary to give lectures to groups of over 100 students for some of the courses. It will also be used for the visiting lecturers and concerts for the student body."

"With this purpose in mind, it is planned that some comfortable seating suitable for taking notes and enjoying concerts will be included in the gymnasium space," he added.

Other incidental purposes for the facility include intramural activities and recreational sports for the student body.

Only local funds are available, and with these funds, it will be possible to construct a pre-engineered building. This building will provide for the functions, but not within the conventional construction practices and the usual contractor arrangements.

Steel buildings represent one type of pre-engineered systems building that uses factory labor and modular systems to reduce the amount of on-site labor and create greater economies in the purchasing of materials. Many states have gone to this system for all of their school construction, Dr. Rinehart explained.

The campus architects for the College are Davenport Associates, who are responsible to the College and act as the owner's representative and consultant. They would also be responsible for ensuring the quality of design, advising the supplier regarding design needs and details, and to ensure the general value of the structure to be satisfactory to the College.

Davenport Associates will also be responsible to the College for modifying the design or adding features and to ensure that the building will fit into the campus planning and aesthetics. This would include decoration and possible masonry work around the building. The College will appoint a qualified person to supervise construction.

Barrett Ends Six Years As School Superintendent

Luther M. Barrett, who has been superintendent of the Escanaba Area Public Schools for the past six years, has submitted his resignation as the district's chief administrator to return to classroom teaching.

The Board of Education at an informal committee meeting Wednesday night agreed to release Barrett from the remaining one year on his contract and appoint him to a position as an English teacher in the Area High School.

The action will be ratified at the board's next official meeting, Aug. 11.

An immediate search for a successor will be initiated, the Board said.

Barrett will remain as superintendent of schools until a new superintendent is named.

Hired in 1964

Barrett joined the Escanaba Area public schools in 1964, taking over as superintendent on Aug. 1, 1964, from Walter Bright. During his six years, the school district constructed three new elementary schools—new Jefferson, Washington and Franklin—and built additions to the Lemmer, Soo Hill and Wells schools.

Curriculum improvements also were implemented and the district developed supplementary programs under federal guidelines.

"I have, for the most part, enjoyed my six years as superintendent of the Escanaba Area public schools," Barrett said today. "I feel I have done a good job for the community and could continue to do so. However, for a number of years I have felt that I eventually wanted to get back to the classroom. I have felt that I wished to end my career in public education on the level at which it started—working directly with the student.

Holy Name Budget Of $194,239 Adopted

The Holy Name High School Board of Education has approved the 1970-71 operating budget, authorized changes to the Crusader Athletic Code, and acceded to the request by American Cablevision to telecast Holy Name football games this fall.

The school operating budget of $194,239 is the largest in Holy Name history.

Rev. Vincent L. Ouellette, superintendent, explained that in order to keep the cost down to this figure a number of important items were removed from the budget, such as the continuing new bus fund.

"These can be replaced and a more liberal margin for operating can be provided for the various departments of the school if the state aid should become a reality this fall," he said.

Assessment Set

The 10 parishes of the area will be assessed $88,462, the same amount as in the 1969-70 school year, to provide for this budget, and $81,500 will be realized from tuition. The remaining $24,000 will come from parent clubs and groups who contribute to the school, and from the emergency backup funds which the school has built up over the years.

It was decided to use all resources of the school this year to avoid raising either the parish assessments or the tuition, said Rev. Ouellette.

In other business, the Board approved the request of the American Cablevision to telecast Holy Name football games this fall and to cooperate with the company in providing monthly public information programs and the dramatic productions during the year.

Minor changes to the Crusader Athletic Code were submitted by Athletic Director John Butrymowicz and approved by the Board. This Code outlines the conduct expected of Holy Name athletes and will be distributed to all participants and coaches.

Staff Complete

The Board was given a report on the staff for next year. With the hiring of James E. Mitchell to teach physics and higher math, and the appointment of Rev. George Wallner to be Director of the Religion Department, and Rev. Donald Henkes to teach biology and Religion, the teaching staff is now complete.

In addition to the new principal, John Butrymowicz, the staff will include two full-time and two part-time priests, and two deacons to teach religion, six Notre Dame and six Franciscan sisters, eight full-time and two part-time lay teachers, and nine men on the coaching staff. All maintenance, transportation and cafeteria personnel also have been hired.

Winners Listed In U.P. Gem, Mineral Show

Six exhibitors won champion rosettes for their outstanding exhibits at the Upper Peninsula Gem and Mineral Show, held in Escanaba last weekend.

The show was hosted by the Bay de Noc Gem and Mineral Club, and was the third such show for the Upper Peninsula. The first two were held in Ishpeming and Calumet. The site and host club for the next year's show have not yet been chosen.

Bernard Smith of Marquette had the best exhibit in the open or mixed division, with his display of cabochon gems and the rough material from which they were cut. He also tied for the best mineral exhibit, with minerals of Marquette County.

Awarded Ribbons

Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Anderson of Marquette tied for the best mineral exhibit, with native copper in all its forms. Albert E. Murray of Escanaba entered the best lapidary exhibit, with cabochons of more than one material.

Local Winners

Ludington St. Paving Starts

The resurfacing of Ludington St. from 1st to 14th St. will be started shortly, and the prospect is that it can be accomplished a block per day, City Manager George Harvey reports.

The raising of the manhole castings on Ludington St. is under way in preparation for the blacktop surfacing work, the manager advises the City Council and adds: "We will have the crews out early in the morning so that we can complete the work early in the afternoon and thereby keep the traffic flowing."

Other city crews are busy with projects that include construction of a storm sewer on 15th Ave. N., 23rd St. to the Harnischfeger Corp. property line.

The public works department has also been instructed by Harvey to obtain quotations for the purchase by the city of a new boiler and its installation at the Escanaba Library. The present heating plant boiler is 35 years old and is leaking.

City Water Fee Exemption Still Being Explored

Complaints from some Escanaba residents to the City Council concerning water and wastewater rates, and a request that senior citizens be granted some type of exemption, have not been forgotten by the city administration.

City Manager George Harvey today reported that he has been in touch with the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, Social Security Administration and the Old Age Assistance Division of the State Department of Social Services.

"From these agencies, I have learned that there is no way in which they can help the senior citizens on the burden of increased prices," Harvey advised the Council.

He continued, however, that he will discuss the subject with the city attorney and city controller and that he is hopeful that within a couple of weeks "a suggestion may be forthcoming that could help all our people to a certain degree, on this problem of increased costs."

Voter Numbers Decline In U.P.

By DON HOENSCHELL, Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Michigan's Upper Peninsula has lost 5,029 registered voters in the last four years and political leaders are fretful.

It threatens one of the state's major political axioms.

The legend was that a candidate had to carry 11 of the 14 Upper Peninsula counties and go into Detroit with a 600,000 outstate lead to win a statewide election.

Elections Director Bernard J. Apol tends to play down the figures since they were assembled April 6 from reports of county clerks.

"There will be more registered before the elections this year, but the April 6 report shows something," he said.

One Gainer

Marquette County was the only one of the 14 to show a gain, picking up 577 registrants to total 22,944 compared to the 22,367 in 1966, the last year Michigan elected a governor.

The remaining 13 all showed declines, from 18 in Keweenaw

The accident occurred when Mrs. Solomon turned to check her one-year-old son Jeffery in the back seat and she drove off the road into the ditch, State Police said. She was ticketed for careless driving.

State Police also investigated a property damage accident at 11:35 a.m. on U.S. 2, 50 feet east of Federal Road Rd. 2233 in Nahma Township.

A motor home driven by James Scheelar, 42, Indianatic, Fla., went off the road onto the soft shoulder and in attempting to get back on the highway rolled on its side hitting a trailer being pulled by Donna Ottensman, 31, 806 N. 19th St., Escanaba.

There was damage to both vehicles, but no injuries were reported and no tickets were issued.

Holy Name Budget Of $194,239 Adopted

The Holy Name High School Board of Education has approved the 1970-71 operating budget, authorized changes to the Crusader Athletic Code, and acceded to the request by American Cablevision to telecast Holy Name football games this fall.

The school operating budget of $194,239 is the largest in Holy Name history.

Rev. Vincent L. Ouellette, superintendent, explained that in order to keep the cost down to this figure a number of important items were removed from the budget, such as the continuing new bus fund.

"These can be replaced and a more liberal margin for operating can be provided for the various departments of the school if the state aid should become a reality this fall," he said.

Assessment Set

The 10 parishes of the area will be assessed $88,462, the same amount as in the 1969-70 school year, to provide for this budget, and $81,500 will be realized from tuition. The remaining $24,000 will come from parent clubs and groups who contribute to the school, and from the emergency backup funds which the school has built up over the years.

It was decided to use all resources of the school this year to avoid raising either the parish assessments or the tuition, said Rev. Ouellette.

In other business, the Board approved the request of the American Cablevision to telecast Holy Name football games this fall and to cooperate with the company in providing monthly public information programs and the dramatic productions during the year.

Minor changes to the Crusader Athletic Code were submitted by Athletic Director

John Butrymowicz and approved by the Board. This Code outlines the conduct expected of Holy Name athletes and will be distributed to all participants and coaches.

Staff Complete

The Board was given a report on the staff for next year.

With the hiring of James E. Mitchell to teach physics and higher math, and the appointment of Rev. George Wallner to be Director of the Religion Department, and Rev. Donald Henken to teach biology and Religion, the teaching staff is now complete.

In addition to the new principal, John Butrymowicz, the staff will include two full-time and two part-time priests, and two deacons to teach religion, six Notre Dame and six Franciscan sisters, eight full-time and nine men on the coaching staff. All maintenance, transportation and cafeteria personnel also have been hired.

Two Injured In Accident

Michelle Solomon, 20, Rte. 1, Escanaba and Mildred Mattson, 57, Rte. 1, Escanaba were reported in fair condition at St. Francis Hospital today following a one-car accident at 12:15 p.m. Wednesday on County Rd. 414 about one and one-half miles east of County Rd. 412.

The accident occurred when Mrs. Solomon turned to check her one-year-old son Jeffery in the back seat and she drove off the road into the ditch, State Police said. She was ticketed for careless driving.

State Police also investigated a property damage accident at 11:35 a.m. on U.S. 2, 50 feet east of Federal Forest Rd. 2233 in Nahma Township.

A motor home driven by James Scheelar, 42, Indianatic, Fla., went off the road onto the soft shoulder and in attempting to get back on the highway rolled on its side hitting a trailer being pulled by Donna Ottensman, 31, 806 N. 19th St., Escanaba.

There was damage to both vehicles, but no injuries were reported and no tickets were issued.

Ticket A Boat?

The wind was blowing out of the northwest so residents of Escanaba didn't notice, but a loaded iron ore boat southbound in Little Bay de Noc from the Chicago & North Western ore terminal should have been arrested the other night. The reason? Air pollution!

The heavily-loaded ore boat was belching thick, black smoke out of its stack. The wind took the smoke away from Escanaba and it disappeared over the waves of Green Bay so it's unlikely there were any complaints about the boat, but it still is contributing to the overall environmental problems facing the nation.

And even though there isn't a "next door neighbor" to complain, the belching of the ore boats should be stopped.

Not all of the boats that come into Escanaba, of course, produce thick, black smoke. Others, it is reported, wait until they reach the open spaces of Lake Michigan before firing up the boilers 100 per cent. But if the average citizen must be required to drive with exhaust control devices on the family car — and this must be done because the automobile is the leading source of air contaminants in the nation — and airlines required to install exhaust arresting equipment on jet aircraft, then the steel and shipping companies which own and operate the lakes carriers must also conform on the lakes.

Perhaps, the company is already under notice that the vessel which blackened the skies over Little Bay de Noc must be controlled or drydocked. Perhaps plans to control the smoke already are being developed.

But if not, then it's time for some action. In saving the environment, everyone must play by the same rules. And that should go for an ore boat in the middle of the lake, too.

Railroad Book

Upper Peninsula railroad and mining buffs will be interested in "The Lake Superior Iron Ore Railroads," a book written by Patrick C. Dorin and published recently by the Superior Publishing Co., Seattle. The book is reviewed in Michigan History, a publication of the Michigan Historical Commission, by John Fortier of Fort St. Vrain, LaPorte.

The book summarizes present-day operations in the Lake Superior ranges, describing the mines, right-of-way, equipment and procedures of 11 ore-hauling railroads — 9 of them common carriers and two private roads. This includes the workings of the Menominee, Gogebic (now closed) and Marquette ranges in the Upper Peninsula, and the business of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming, Soo Line, Chicago & North Western and Milwaukee Railroads, which together conduct a heavy volume of traffic in the state. For each road, the author describes the problems and techniques involved both in moving more than 100,000,000 tons of ore shipments annually and in loading it into the Great Lakes ore vessels.

The volume, which is heavily illustrated, does not attempt to be a pictorial history. It devotes almost no space to the origins of the individual roads or to their activities before about 1940. This is acceptable, Fortier writes, in a book whose stated purpose is to describe the modern operations of a specific type of railroad. Yet, he says, there are failings in this study.

"First is the author's preoccupation with minutiae. Details can be made interesting . . . but too many of Mr. Dorin's points in passing are either trivial in nature or not placed in any broader context. The second problem is the author's unimaginative style of writing. Statements are repeated unnecessarily, and, combined with a plethora of detail, this results in a text that is too often dull. The third failing is the quality of the pictorial material; of 190 photos at least 80 are either too dark or out of focus . . . The maps of the ore ranges, rail lines and right-of-way profiles are a welcome addition, but they are inexcusably crude . . . Ultimately, in a volume whose content relies heavily upon visual impact, this is a serious flaw."

Fortier concludes that if the author had dug deeper, asked more searching questions and presented the results in a more readable and coherent fashion, the book would stand as a much more useful and lasting contribution to railroad literature. Nevertheless, a person reading the book is able to get a good idea of the stages in iron ore production between mining and smelting and to appreciate the difference of such innovations as pelletized ore and conveyor belt loading. In other words, if a reader can wade through the trivia and excuse the shortcomings of illustrations, a better understanding of the subject matter is possible. And, after all, isn't that what writing is all about?

Peninsula Potpourri

"We bailed as hard as we could and the water just kept coming in." That was 13-year-old Kevin Kinne's description of a boating accident at the lower end of Lake Nicolet which claimed the lives of three Saginaw residents. Kevin, a nephew of one of the victims, was the only survivor. "We left our camp at the Eagle's nest about 6 a. m. and trolled for awhile downstream from the camp," he said. "Sometime after 7 o'clock this sudden high wind came up, the water got rough and some water came over the side. Then a couple of big waves came over the stern and we started taking on water. My uncle bailed as hard as he could and the water just kept coming in." Kevin told authorities that finally all of the boat was under water except the bow. He said he was trying to get a life jacket on, but the wind hindered his efforts. His uncle, he said, told everyone to stay with the boat, but somehow he got overboard and started swimming. Kevin said he did not see the buoy at first and that he must have been in the water about 15 minutes before he saw it from the top of a wave. He swam toward it and climbed aboard, where he was spotted by a passing freighter and picked up.

CROSSED WIRES

Labor Union Fights Vietnam Communism

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The trade union movement of the West hasn't always followed policies that are the best for society. But, to give the unions and their social democratic and laborite political party allies their due, they have been stronger bulwarks against Communism than many of the businessmen.

The tendency of the hard hats in America to react against dilettante juvenile collectivists, for example, is quite in keeping with union psychology. The hard hats have a stake in democracy, in capital expansion, and in wage scale that is as good if not better than average of middle class remuneration.

It is important to know, then, that the Confederation of Labor, the Vietnamese Confederation of Labor, is building itself into the social fabric of this country as the process of "Vietnamization" proceeds. From time to time the confederation's president, Tran Quoc Buu, sends this column reports of the latest CVT news.

Tran Quoc Buu is an ardent anti-Communist; he learned, as a short-term member of the Communist-controlled Viet Minh in 1945, that there was no use making a united front with Ho Chi Minh. He also learned something more. Western trade unionists have always begun by organizing the industrial workers, and western Marxists have always stressed the urban proletariat. But Tran Quoc Buu had noticed, quite early, that Ho Chi Minh's strategy was a rural strategy. It was to penetrate the peasantry, to swim like fishes in the sea of a radicalized countryside.

To counter the Ho strategy, which is based on the teaching of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Tran Quoc Buu has been extending his unionization into the South Vietnamese countryside. The object is to create a hostile "sea" in which the Viet Cong "fishes" will find it impossible to exist.

The Tenant Farmers Federation, with 185,000 members, and the Fishermen's Federation (112,000 members) have become the biggest unions in the CVT, which has 500,000 members in all. The Plantation Workers make up a smaller affiliate, with 12,000 members. By comparison, the industrial and service affiliates of the CVT are small: the Textile Workers membership is a mere 2,500.

Tran Quoc Buu has been expanding his influence in the countryside beyond his union membership, by making alliances with the farmers of the Hoa-Hoa and the Cao-Dai sects. His CVT follows the old Samuel Gompers - American Federation of Labor rule of staying clear of official political party affiliation.

In the countryside, however, the CVT organizes farmers to pressure for legislation that helps them. Tran Quoc Buu has set up an agency that imports tractors and fertilizers for the farmers at the cheapest rates. A program of training goes with the importation of machinery.

Since most of the farmers' water buffaloes have been killed in the war, rice-farm mechanization is a necessity. So the CVT trains the farmers to use small tractors and mechanized pumping equipment as well as the newest fertilizers and insecticides. The black market in fertilizer distribution has been practically eradicated by the Tenant Farmers Federation, which heads a national committee for making fertilizer available to everybody.

Tran Quoc Buu backs the Thieu government's land-reform program which, if it can be carried out successfully, could increase peasant proprietorship to a point that would make it unnecessary for farmers to join unions. But the prospect of being worked out of a job in the countryside does not concern Tran Quoc Buu at the moment. He is totally wrapped up in the effort to counter the "liberation" program of the Viet Cong in the rural areas, and he thinks he can achieve a huge success if only the Ministry of Agriculture will give him technicians to work with the farmers.

Since the CVT is not directly in politics, Tran Quoc Buu doesn't make headlines for Western reporters. But he feels the need for "more political activity," and for a "political party working parallel with the labor movement." This will presumably come when war conditions disappear. It would not only complete the process of "Vietnamization," it would also add to the free Western flavor of Tran Quoc Buu's country.

Nations with social democratic labor parties and strong anti-Communist unions fight the Communist virus better than most.

Letters To The Press

CITY BEAUTIFUL?

Each year there are articles and full page spreads in the paper about "Clean up, paint up and keep Escanaba beautiful."

I have always considered the appearance of people's yards, green grass and flowers as much a part of keeping Escanaba beautiful as keeping the streets clean. I must be mistaken in my thinking.

In a letter to the editor, Cora Newell mentioned that the Ludington Park was the only place being watered. She failed to mention that the water was not turned on in the park until the grass was so brown that you could not tell the difference between the park "grass" and the beach sand. The water used after the grass is completely dried out is like pouring water on a fire that had been extinguished three weeks before.

It is a shame and a disgrace to have a so called "million dollar water front" with hay fields for a park. Apparently, the city cannot afford their own water rates.

This is not the first year that the park lawn has been allowed to dry up—and with water less than 100 feet away.

I did notice, however, that our city crews are being used to water the trees along the road through the park. They consist of 2 men and a tank truck. They would stop at each tree and pour a little water at the base of the tree. I wonder if they realize how much water is necessary to moisten the ground down to the roots of these trees.

These trees have been in the park for a couple of years and by now have established their own source of water which can not be very far down in that location.

Incidentally, Miss America did make a trip through the "park."

I was fortunate enough to have dinner Sunday evening with Pam Eldred—Miss America and her father. During the few hours spent with these people not once was beautiful Escanaba mentioned.

Why people who enjoy green grass and flowers have to be penalized for their efforts I can't quite understand. With the short summer we have in the area you would think some consideration would be given during the months of June, July and August. The city council and the City Manager have made it impossible for most people to water their lawns and are now making it more difficult with the so-called state regulation in wells. Again, it is a shame that the people of Escanaba have to resort to such drastic means to beat these outrageous water rates.

During the past couple of weeks I have talked to a considerable number of people—both the working class and people on fixed incomes. One 76-year-old person living alone stated his utility bill went from $9 one month to $21 the next month. Where is their extra money going to come from each month? And then there is the working man with a large family where it is necessary for the mother to wash clothes 3 or 4 times a week with showers and baths for 6 or 7 people. People in this class have a hard enough time making both ends meet without penalizing them some more.

Our City Manager cannot understand why the population of Escanaba had decreased in the past 10 years. This is not too hard to understand when you consider that people moving into the city from Ohio claim that its costs them $1,000 a year more to live in Escanaba. Does Escanaba really have that much to offer? Next year we will be faced with a city income tax which should also help to increase the population.

In reply to the editor's note to Cora Newell's letter about the state and federal regulation which the city must abide

Opening lead—six of hearts. The Rule of Eleven is a gadget that can be used to great advantage by either the declarer or a defender. Here is an unusual case that demonstrates the application of the Rule.

West leads the six of hearts, dummy following low, and the question is which card East should play on this trick. If he puts on the ten, which is probably what most players would do, declarer makes the contract by forcing out the ace of diamonds and later developing his ninth trick by leading a heart to dummy's nine.

But let's suppose that East is a devout disciple of the Rule of Eleven and understands its workings thoroughly. In that event, after West has played the six of hearts and dummy the three, East plays the five!

The effect of this is that South must go down one. Declarer wins and attacks diamonds, whereupon West takes the ace and leads another low heart. If the queen is played from dummy, East quickly defeats the contract by playing the K-10 of hearts; if the nine is played from dummy, East wins with the ten, cashes the king and returns the queen of clubs, leaving South with only eight tricks.

In applying the Rule of Eleven (which assumes a fourth best lead), East deducts the card led from eleven, which tells him that there are five cards higher than the six in the North, East and South hands.

East sees two of them in dummy and two in his own hand, so he knows that South has only one card higher than the six. On the bidding, this card must be the ace (or at least the jack), and East can therefore safely play the five. His frugality is eventually rewarded when South goes down one.

Ann Landers

Ann Doesn't Mind Getting 'Clobbered'

Dear Ann Landers: Why don't you mind your own business? A woman in California wrote to say she and her husband were getting along fine, playing cards, watching TV and enjoying themselves and YOU tell her to add a little sex to her marriage and it will be better. How do you know? Maybe they don't happen to be sex maniacs.

Of course my husband cut out that column and waved it in front of my nose. Now he has it pasted to his denture glass. Every night before he goes to bed he reads me a line or two of your advice. I'm so sick of you, Ann Landers, I tried to cancel the newspaper but my husband wouldn't stand for it.

If I hadn't seen you with my own eyes when you spoke in Boston I would swear you were a man. I won't be reading your column anymore so good-bye forever. — Brookline Wife

Dear Wife: Sorry to lose you, dearie, but I have a hunch your husband will keep you posted. Thanks for the clobber. It made my day.

Dear Ann Landers: Our teen-age son had surgery last week and you wouldn't believe the questions people have been asking me about the operation—even after I made it clear I didn't want to discuss it. Why do these clods think the intimate details of surgery are public property? How does one get across the idea that the information isn't volunteered if it is bad manners to pry?

Yesterday a neighbor bombarded me with some extremely personal questions. Finally I lost my temper and said, "I really don't want to talk about it, if you don't mind." With fire in her eyes she snapped, "I ask because I am INTERESTED in the boy. I can't understand why you are so sensitive."

I ended up by apologizing, but I felt like kicking her in the teeth. I was brought up to believe it is rude to put a person through the third degree about personal matters. How should deal with nosey folks? —T. N. T. Mother

Dear Mother: The best way to handle a None-Of-Your-Business type question is by asking a counter question: Example. "Why do you ask?" or "What on earth do you want to know for?" If the lunkhead ignores your question and continues to press, simply say, "Do you mind if we change the subject to something more cheerful?"

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the Files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 Years Ago

Albert E. Koll and lady attendant, with long experience on hard of hearing problems, will conduct a free Clinic for the hard of hearing at Hotel Delta. Feature of this Better Hearing Clinic will be a demonstration of the new "Hearing Lenses," a dramatic development made as a result of war discoveries. Koll takes an understanding interest in helping the hard of hearing, and is well qualified to make scientifically correct fittings of bone and air conduction instruments.

Atty. Robert Deo, general counsel for National Automobile Dealers Association, Washington, D. C., and former Escanaba resident, will speak to the Rotary Club at its noon luncheon meeting at the Delta Hotel.

50 Years Ago
 Milo D. Campbell of Coldwater, Republican candidate for governor, visited Escanaba en route through the Upper Peninsula on a campaign tour. The party arrived from the Copper Country and was scheduled to leave for the iron range.

It is expected that many Delta County farmers, as well as business men of Escanaba and Gladstone, will go to Chatham to attend the Alger County "Round Up" at the State Agricultural Experiment Station. The round up is being arranged under the joint auspices of the state board of agriculture and the Alger County board.

Dear Ann Landers: You once replied when asked if women were smarter about marriage than men, "Have you ever heard of a woman marrying a man for his shape." I laughed when I read it, but it started me thinking.

What DO women look for when they want to marry? All around me I see lovely gals who are supporting loafers, boozers, and chasers. These men aren't particularly handsome or interesting or even decent, in some instances. Why would a pleasant, bright, successful woman who can support herself in style hook up with a jerk who is inferior to her in every way—and carry the financial burden besides? This is not a new wrinkle. Ann, I had two aunts who did it 30 years ago. Nobody in the family could figure it out. Can you? —B. Mused

Dear B.: Some gals are so terrified of spinsterhood they'll settle for anything. Heaven knows why, but the unmarried man is viewed as a glamorous, elusive gay blade, while the single woman on the lying side of 35 is considered an old maid. Of course this is rubbish. I've said it before and I'll say it again: Any woman can get married—if she sets her standards low enough.

Too many couples go from matrimony to acrimony. Don't let your marriage flop before it gets started. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage—What To Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped self-addressed envelope. © Publishers-Hall Syndicate

Ticket A Boat?

The wind was blowing out of the northwest so residents of Escanaba didn't notice, but a loaded iron ore boat southbound in Little Bay de Noc from the Chicago & North Western ore terminal should have been arrested the other night. The reason? Air pollution!

The heavily-loaded ore boat was belching thick, black smoke out of its stack. The wind took the smoke away from Escanaba and it disappeared over the waves of Green Bay so the unlikely there were any complaints about the boat, but it still is contributing to the overall environmental problems facing the nation.

And even though there isn't a "next door neighbor" to complain, the belching of the ore boats should be stopped.

Not all of the boats that come into Escanaba, of course, produce thick, black smoke. Others, it is reported, wait until they reach the open spaces of Lake Michigan before firing up the boilers 100 per cent. But if the average citizen must be required to drive with exhaust control devices on the family car — and this must be done because the automobile is the leading source of air contaminants in the nation — and airlines required to install exhaust arresting equipment on jet aircraft, then the steel and shipping companies which own and operate the lakes carriers must also conform on the lakes.

Perhaps, the company is already under notice that the vessel which blackened the skies over Little Bay de Noc must be controlled or drydocked. Perhaps plans to control the smoke already are being developed.

But if not, then it's time for some action. In saving the environment, everyone must play by the same rules. And that should go for an ore boat in the middle of the lake, too.

Railroad Book

Upper Peninsula railroad and mining buffs will be interested in "The Lake Superior Iron Ore Railroads," a book written by Patrick C. Dorin and published recently by the Superior Publishing Co., Seattle. The book is reviewed in Michigan History, a publication of the Michigan Historical Commission, by John Fortier of Fortress of Louisbourg.

The book summarizes present-day operations in the Lake Superior ranges, describing the mines, right-of-way, equipment and procedures of 11 ore-hauling railroads — 9 of them common carriers and two private roads. This includes the workings of the Menominee, Gogebic (now closed) and Marquette ranges in the Upper Peninsula, and the business of the Lake Superior & Ishpeming, Soo Line, Chicago & North Western and Milwaukee Railroads, which together conduct a heavy volume of traffic in the state. For each road, the author describes the problems and techniques involved both in moving more than 100,000,000 tons of ore shipments annually and in loading it into the Great Lakes ore vessels.

The volume, which is heavily illustrated, does not attempt to be a pictorial history. It devotes almost no space to the origins of the individual roads or to their activities before about 1940. This is acceptable, Fortier writes, in a book whose stated purpose is to describe the modern operations of a specific type of railroad. Yet, he says, there are failings in this study.

"First is the author's preoccupation with minutiae. Details can be made interesting . . . but too many of Mr. Dorin's points in passing are either trivial in nature or not placed in any broader context. The second problem is the author's unimaginative style of writing. Statements are repeated unnecessarily, and, combined with a plethora of detail, this results in a text that is too often dull. The third failing is the quality of the pictorial material; of 190 photos at least 30 are either too dark or out of focus . . . The maps of the ore ranges, rail lines and right-of-way profiles are a welcome addition, but they are inexcusably crude . . . Ultimately, in a volume whose content relies heavily upon visual impact, this is a serious flaw."

Fortier concludes that if the author had dug deeper, asked more searching questions and presented the results in a more readable and coherent fashion, the book would stand as a much more useful and lasting contribution to railroad literature. Nevertheless, a person reading the book is able to get a good idea of the stages in iron ore production between mining and smelting and to appreciate the difference of such innovations as pelletized ore and conveyor belt loading. In other words, if a reader can wade through the trivia and excuse the shortcomings of illustrations, a better understanding of the subject matter is possible. And, after all, isn't that what writing is all about?

Peninsula Potpourri

"We bailed as hard as we could and the water just kept coming in." That was 13-year-old Kevin Kinne's description of a boating accident at the lower end of Lake Nicolet which claimed the lives of three Saginaw residents. Kevin, a nephew of one of the victims, was the only survivor. "We left our camp at the Eagle's nest about 6 a. m. and trolled for awhile downstream from the camp," he said. "Sometime after 7 o'clock this sudden high wind came up, the water got rough and some water came over the side. Then a couple of big waves came over the stern and we started taking on water. My uncle bailed as hard as he could and the water just kept coming in." Kevin told authorities that finally all of the boat was under water except the bow. He said he was trying to get a life jacket on, but the wind hindered his efforts. His uncle, he said told everyone to stay with the boat, but somehow he got overboard and started swimming. Kevin said he did not see the buoy at first and that he must have been in the water about 15 minutes before he saw it from the top of a wave. He swam toward it and climbed aboard, where he was spotted by a passing freighter and picked up.

CROSSED WIRES

Labor Union Fights Vietnam Communism

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

The trade union movement of the West hasn't always followed policies that are best for society. But, to give the unions and their social democratic and laborite political allies their due, they have been stronger bulwarks against Communism than many of the businessmen.

The tendency of the hard hats in America to react against dilettante juvenile collectivism, for example, is quite in keeping with union psychology. The hard hats have a stake in democracy, in capital expansion, and in wage scale that is as good if not better than average of middle class remuneration.

It is important to know, then, that the Confederation Vietnamienne du Travail, or the Vietnamese Confederation of Labor, is building itself into the social fabric of its country as the process of "Vietnamization" proceeds. From time to time the confederation's president, Tran Quoc Buu, sends this column reports of the latest CVT news.

Tran Quoc Buu is an ardent anti-Communist; he learned, as a short-term member of the Communist - controlled Viet Minh in 1945, that there was no use making a united front with Ho Chi Minh. He also learned something more. Western trade unionists have always begun by organizing the industrial workers, and western Marxists have always stressed the urban proletariat. But Tran Quoc Buu had noticed, quite early, that Ho Chi Minh's strategy was a rural strategy. It was to penetrate the peasantry, to swim like fishes in the sea of a radicalized countryside.

To counter the Ho strategy, which is based on the teaching of Chairman Mao Tse-tung, Tran Quoc Buu has been extending his unionization into the South Vietnamese countryside. The object is to create a hostile "sea" in which the Viet Cong "fishes" will find it impossible to exist.

The Tenant Farmers Federation, with 185,000 members, and the Fishermen's Federation (112,000 members) have become the biggest unions in the CVT, which has 500,000 members in all. The Plantation Workers make up a smaller affiliate, with 12,000 members. By comparison, the industrial and service affiliates of the CVT are small: the Textile Workers membership is a mere 2,500.

Tran Quoc Buu has been expanding his influence in the countryside beyond his union membership, by making alliances with the farmers of the Hoa-Hoa and the Cao-Dai sects. His CVT follows the old Samuel Gompers - American Federation of Labor rule of staying clear of official political party affiliation.

In the countryside, however, the CVT organizes farmers to pressure for legislation that helps them. Tran Quoc Buu has set up an agency that imports tractors and fertilizers for the farmers at the cheapest rates. A program of training goes with the importation of machinery.

Since most of the farmers' water buffaloes have been killed in the war, rice-farm mechanization is a necessity. So the CVT trains the farmers to use small tractors and mechanized pumping equipment as well as the newest fertilizers and insecticides. The black market in fertilizer distribution has been practically eradicated by the Tenant Farmers Federation, which heads a national committee for making fertilizer available to everybody.

Tran Quoc Buu backs the Thieu government's land-reform program which, if it can be carried out successfully, could increase peasant proprietorship to a point that would make it unnecessary for farmers to join unions. But the prospect of being worked out of a job in the countryside does not concern Tran Quoc Buu at the moment. He is totally wrapped up in the effort to counter the "liberation" program of the Viet Cong in the rural areas, and he thinks he can achieve a huge success if only the Ministry of Agriculture will give him technicians to work with the farmers.

Since the CVT is not directly in politics, Tran Quoc Buu doesn't make headlines for Western reporters. But he feels the need for "more political activity," and for a "political party working parallel with the labor movement." This will presumably come when war conditions disappear. It would not only complete the process of "Vietnamization," it would also add to the free Western flavor of Tran Quoc Buu's country.

Nations with social democratic labor parties and strong anti-Communist unions fight the Communist virus better than most.

Letters To The Press

CITY BEAUTIFUL?

Each year there are articles and full page spreads in the paper about "Clean up, paint up and keep Escanaba beautiful."

I have always considered the appearance of people's yards, green grass and flowers as much a part of keeping Escanaba beautiful as keeping the streets clean. I must be mistaken in my thinking.

In a letter to the editor, Cora Newell mentioned that the Ludington Park was the only place being watered. She failed to mention that the water was not turned on in the park until the grass was so brown that you could not tell the difference between the park "grass" and the beach sand. The water used after the grass is completely dried out is like pouring water on a fire that had been extinguished three weeks before.

It is a shame and a disgrace to have a so called "million dollar water front" with hay fields for a park. Apparently, the city cannot afford their own water rates.

This is not the first year that the park lawn has been allowed to dry up—and with water less than 100 feet away.

I did notice, however, that our city crews are being used to water the trees along the road through the park. They consist of 2 men and a tank truck. They would stop at each tree and pour a little water at the base of the tree. I wonder if they realize how much water is necessary to moisten the ground down to the roots of these trees.

These trees have been in the park for a couple of years and by now have established their own source of water which can not be very far down in that location.

Incidentally, Miss America did make a trip through the "park."

I was fortunate enough to have dinner Sunday evening with Pam Eldred—Miss America and her father. During the few hours spent with these people not once was beautiful Escanaba mentioned.

Why people who enjoy green grass and flowers have to be penalized for their efforts I can't quite understand. With the short summer we have in the area you would think some consideration would be given during the months of June, July and August. The city council and the City Manager have made it impossible for most people to water their lawns and are now making it more difficult with the so-called state regulation in wells. Again, it is a shame that the people of Escanaba have to resort to such drastic means to beat these outrageous water rates.

During the past couple of weeks I have talked to a considerable number of people—both the working class and people on fixed incomes. One 76-year-old person living alone stated his utility bill went from $9 one month to $21 the next month. Where is their extra money going to come from each month? And then there is the working man with a large family where it is necessary for the mother to wash clothes 3 or 4 times a week with showers and baths for 6 or 7 people. People in this class have a hard enough time making both ends meet without penalizing them some more.

Our City Manager cannot understand why the population of Escanaba had decreased in the past 10 years. This is not to put down to understand when you consider that people moving into the city from Ohio claim that its costs them $1,000 a year more to live in Escanaba. Does Escanaba really have that much to offer? Next year we will be faced with a city income tax which should also help to increase the population.

In reply to the editor's note to Cora Newell's letter about the state and federal regulation which the city must abide by, I would like to say that the federal or state governments can no more get blood from a turnip than the city governments. There was only one person who could do that and he is no longer on this earth . . .

Had the City Council come up with a reasonable increase in the rates more people would be using more water and the revenue to the city would be as much or more than they will be getting under the new rates.

What happens if these new rates do not generate the $500,000 per year required? Will the rates be raised again?

Incidentally, I have not yet received my utility bill for the past month but based on the increases in other people's utility bills mine should be between $65 and $75. A high price to pay to keep your lawn green which I did during the dry spell. Thank God for the rain.

I listened to the Council meeting regarding well regulations. The reason for these safety measures is so some kid does not drink contaminated water from your garden hose. How much water do these kids swallow at the bathing beach? Is this water safe to drink?

Opening lead—six of hearts. The Rule of Eleven is a gadget that can be used to great advantage by either the declarer or a defender. Here is an unusual case that demonstrates the application of the Rule.

West leads the six of hearts, dummy following low, and the question is which card East should play on this trick. If he puts on the ten, which is probably what most players would do, declarer makes the contract by forcing out the ace of diamonds and later developing his ninth trick by leading a heart to dummy's nine.

But let's suppose that East is a devout disciple of the Rule of Eleven and understands its workings thoroughly. In that event, after West has played the six of hearts and dummy the three, East plays the five!

The effect of this is that South must go down one. Declarer wins and attacks diamonds, whereupon West takes the ace and leads another low heart. If the queen is played from dummy, East quickly defeats the contract by playing the K-10 of hearts; if the nine is played from dummy, East wins with the ten, cashes the king and returns the queen of clubs, leaving South with only eight tricks.

In applying the Rule of Eleven (which assumes a fourth best lead), East deducts the card led from eleven, which tells him that there are five cards higher than the six in the North, East and South hands.

East sees two of them in dummy and two in his own hand, so he knows that South has only one card higher than the six. On the bidding, this card must be the ace (or at least the jack), and East can therefore safely play the five. His frugality is eventually rewarded when South goes down one.

Ann Doesn't Mind Getting 'Clobbered'

Dear Ann Landers: Why don't you mind your own business? A woman in California wrote to say she and her husband were getting along fine, playing cards, watching TV and enjoying themselves and YOU tell her to add a little sex to her marriage and it will be better. How do you know? Maybe they don't happen to be sex maniacs.

Of course my husband cut out that column and waved it in front of my nose. Now he has it pasted to his denture glass. Every night before he goes to bed he reads me a line or two of your advice. I'm so sick of you, Ann Landers, I tried to cancel the newspaper but my husband wouldn't stand for it.

If I hadn't seen you with my own eyes when you spoke in Boston I would swear you were a man. I won't be reading your column anymore so good-bye forever. — Brookline Wife

Dear Wife: Sorry to lose you, dearie, but I have a hunch your husband will keep you posted. Thanks for the clobber. It made my day.

Dear Ann Landers: Our teen-age son had surgery last week and you wouldn't believe the questions people have been asking me about the operation—even after I made it clear I didn't want to discuss it. Why do these clods think the intimate details of surgery are public property? How does one get across the idea that the information isn't volunteered it is bad manners to pry?

Yesterday a neighbor bombarded me with some extremely personal questions. Finally I lost my temper and said, "I really don't want to talk about it, if you don't mind." With fire in her eye she snapped, "I ask because I am INTERESTED in the boy. I can't understand why you are so sensitive."

I ended up by apologizing, but I felt like kicking her in the teeth. I was brought up to believe it is rude to put a person through the third degree about personal matters. How should deal with nosey folks? —T. N. T. Mother

Dear Mother: The best way to handle a None-Of-Your-Business type question is by asking a counter question: Example. "Why do you ask?" or "What on earth do you want to know for?" If the lunkhead ignores your question and continues to press, simply say, "Do you mind if we change the subject to something more cheerful?"

Dear Ann Landers: You once replied when asked if women were smarter about marriage than men, "Have you ever heard of a woman marrying a man for his shape?" I laughed when I read it, but it started me thinking.

What DO women look for when they want to marry? All around me I see lovely gals who are supporting loafers, boozers, and chasers. These men aren't particularly handsome or interesting or even decent, in some instances. Why would a pleasant, bright, successful woman who can support herself in style hook up with a jerk who is inferior to her in every way—and carry the financial burden besides? This is not a new wrinkle, Ann. I had two aunts who did it 30 years ago. Nobody in the family could figure it out. Can you?—B. Mused

Dear B.: Some gals are so terrified of spinsterhood they'll settle for anything. Heaven knows why, but the unmarried man is viewed as a glamorous, elusive gay blade, while the single woman on the lying side of 35 is considered an old maid. Of course this is rubbish. I've said it before and I'll say it again: Any woman can get married—if she sets her standards low enough.

State Board Rules:

All Schools Must Comply With Free Textbook Plan

LANSING (AP) — The State Board of Education will advise all Michigan school districts they must provide free textbooks and supplies to all students this fall as the result of a state Supreme Court decision.

"The attorney general's office has informed me that the Supreme Court decision has the effect of law, and must be implemented," said Dr. John W. Porter, acting state superintendent of public instruction.

Officials To Be Notified

Porter said the attorney general's office advised that the department should inform all school officials through letters and publications "that no school district in the state of Michigan can charge a fee for textbooks, supplies or equipment incident to any portion of the curriculum or other recognized school activity."

Porter noted, however, that the Ann Arbor School District-subject of the test case—has 20 days in which to request a rehearing. The State Supreme Court handed down its decision last Friday.

Expresses Concern

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, expressed concern, meanwhile, saying the decision may cost the state up to $20 million a year.

"There is, of course, a key question as to whether these funds be provided by supplemental legislative appropriation or at a local level," he said.

Bursley said he hoped there would be further clarification of the issue at the Aug. 11 education board meeting.

Recommendation Not New

Dr. Peter Oppewall, board president, reported that as long as five years ago the board took the position that the Legislature should appropriate funds to allow every school district to provide free textbooks. The recommendation has been repeated every year since, he added.

Porter said further research is needed on questions raised by the Supreme Court ruling, including whether such miscellaneous fees as for towel and locker rental must be eliminated.

He said the phrase "recognized school activities" must be further defined.

Directive Due

"The attorney general's office has advised that it is now studying the meaning of the opinion and will, hopefully, in the very near future issue some directives as to the full ramifications of the Supreme Court's opinion," Porter said.

Porter said, meanwhile, the school districts must start supplying the books this fall. This would leave many school districts short of time and money for ordering, handling and receiving the textbooks before the fall session starts.

Following Rules Of Water Safety Can Save Lives

Drowning is the fourth leading cause of all accidental deaths, advises the Delta-Memnorine District Health Department. It is only surpassed by deaths from motor vehicles, falls and fires.

It has been estimated that as many as 7,000 persons die each year from accidental drownings. Most victims are teenagers and young adults. Many drownings could be avoided if a few simple rules were followed:

- Learn to swim well at an early age.
- Never swim when overheated or exhausted.
- Know your limitations—how far you can swim. Long distances are often misleading.
- Always swim with a companion. On long distances, arrange for someone in a boat to accompany you.
- Swim in a safe place. The presence of lifeguards usually indicates the area is safe. Don't be too proud to call for help if you find yourself in trouble.
- Wait at least an hour after eating before going into the water. Don't swim until several hours have elapsed after drinking or taking medication.

It is well to remember to check your fuel supply and make sure you have enough for a round trip. Store all gear properly. Carry lifesaving equipment for every person aboard. Wear lifejackets.

Don't overload. Overloading is one of the most common causes of boating accidents. Don't exceed the boat's safety capacity. Always practice good boating manners with other and observe the rules of the waterways.

Always check the weather before setting out on a trip, and keep a close watch on weather conditions as you go.

UAW Leader Eyes Accord Minus Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Leonard Woodcock of the United Auto Workers Union said Wednesday that his members had been hurt by the nation's economic slowdown and the union wants to reach new contracts with the auto industry without a strike if possible.

But Woodcock said the workers would strike despite what he called the economic recession engineered by President Nixon, if necessary to win "reasonable" settlements from Ford, General Motors and Chrysler, where contracts expire September 14.

Woodcock, at a news conference, said wage demands of 10 per cent a year, plus 26 cents an hour the union claims is already owed because of increased living costs, would be a figure to consider toward a beginning of a settlement.

Woodcock also confirmed reports that the union's general fund was $4 million in the red and $15 million had been borrowed from the strike fund to help finance the union's $18 million family center in Black Lake, Mich., a pet project of the late union president Walter Reuther who was killed there in a plane crash last May.

Woodcock said union leaders would hold a special meeting later this month to consider laying off some staff members to save money, and that mortgages were being arranged on the Black Lake project so the strike fund money will be available if needed.

He said the strike fund, including the $13 million in mortgages, totals $120 million.

Woodcock discounted industry claims that auto workers' wage demands would be inflationary, and said the industry's profit margins were excessive and more to blame for inflation.

He also said the industry itself was to blame for rising competition from imported small foreign cars because U.S. auto makers didn't make a competitive small car, preferring to make larger cars that produce larger profits.

Foreign Shipping On Lakes Slowed By Pilots Strike

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — A work-stoppage by some members of the Great Lakes Pilots Association, Inc., has slowed foreign shipping on the Great Lakes.

Pilots who are members of the Association's District III, which stretches from Port Huron, Mich., to Duluth, walked off their jobs about 7 p.m. Tuesday in a dispute over some Canadian freighters that do not carry Great Lakes Pilots.

The Duluth action followed a work stoppage Tuesday afternoon by all 32 American pilots in the Association's District II which stretches from Port Huron to Port Colborne, Ont., near Niagara Falls.

The District II pilots' action was reportedly the result of a dispute over pay rates between the Lakes Pilots Association and the Great Lakes Pilots in Cleveland, a civilian branch of the U.S. Coast Guard.

But the walkout by District III Pilots was said to be in protest over sections of the U.S. Pilotage Act which exempt certain Canadian vessels from the rule requiring all foreign ships to carry a Great Lakes Pilot when sailing lake waters.

The law provides that Canadian vessels which are primarily "lakers," but "occasionally" sail to saltwater ports, need not carry Great Lakes pilots.

Consolidated Gas Hike Request KO'd

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley reports the Ingham County Circuit Court has rejected a Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. request for a $10 million rate hike above the amount granted by the State Public Service Commission.

The effect of the court decision Wednesday, Kelley said, further would be to reduce the annual rate increase allowed by the commission from $3.8 million to $3.5 million or less.

Kelley said Circuit Court Judge Donald Reisig found six specific errors in rate orders approved by the commission and ordered them corrected.

A spokesman for the attorney general's office said he interpreted the court opinion as also wiping out $2.8 million annual rate increase granted the utility pending outcome of the court dispute.

Michigan consolidated sells natural gas throughout a wide area of the state including Detroit, southeastern Michigan, eastern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

DNR Upgrading

LANSING (AP) — Charles Guenther, with the State Department of Natural Resources since 1951, has been named executive assistant to Ralph MacMullan, department director. He succeeds Samuel Milstein, who became deputy director for recreation upon the retirement of Glenn Gregg.

Louie Salter, 124 N. Mackinac Ave., was the senior work veteran among the five with his 46-plus years of employment at the local mill. Salter began work on Sept. 7, 1924 and retired Jan. 1 as beater room engineer.

25 Years Service
Charles Garvin, 514 Alger Ave., retired effective July 1 after 25 years service. Garvin worked as a grinderman on the pulp mill.

Annual Boiler Inspection Set At Paper Mill

The Manistique Pulp & Paper Company will shut down next week for an annual boiler inspection and other fire protection work around the mill, chief executive officer Frank S. Hoholik announced Wednesday.

Hoholik said his employees would be on vacation during the week-long closing. He also said that the mill rebuilding project, originally scheduled to start Oct. 1 for a 4-6 week period, might have to be deferred until next spring.

There is a possibility of delay in receiving components necessary for the project due to recent strikes, he said.

District Court

Clarence E. Quinn of Ludington paid $15 and $15 for being a drunk and disorderly person.

D. W. MacKinnon of Gulliver paid $7 and $8 for failure to report an accident and $5 and $5 for no insurance proof.

St., retired Feb. 28 after almost 20 years service as a grinder.

Worked 16 Years
John Lasich was a mill carpenter until his March 1 retirement. Lasich, who lives at 191 N. Maple St., worked at the paper mill for 16 years.

Another retiree, Norman Oliver, Garden Ave., was unable to be present for the luncheon. Oliver retired March 1 after 23½ years employment and worked as a spare hand on the paper machine.

Hoholik paid tribute to the long and faithful years of employee service represented by the retirees. He also noted that the retirees would receive benefits under an improved retirement plan for employees recently negotiated with the mill, a subsidiary of Field Enterprises, Inc., Chicago.

Retirement Plan
The plan is a non-contributory set-up, Hoholik said, with the total cost borne by the company and pays retirees a certain percentage of each year's earnings, based on years of service and a percentage of high average earnings over a five year period.

Other mill officials attending the fete included Leif Christensen, Otmer J. Schuster, John Orr, Maurice Reid and Gilbert Kelly.

Teachers Group, Education Board Reach Agreement
The Manistique Teachers' Association and Area Board of Education negotiating committees have reached agreement on the certified employees contract for the coming year, according to an announcement from both groups.

The proposals will be submitted for teacher ratification next Monday, July 27 and to the board of education at a special meeting the following night. No details of the agreement, which cover only monetary items under a three-year Master Contract which expires next year, were announced pending ratification.

Airport Engineering Studies Given Okay

The county okayed the completion of final engineering studies on the airport Tuesday night after an engineering consultant said he felt "the chances of the project application being approved were very good."

Peckham Engineering Company was authorized to complete airport studies which will include a detailed construction plan and soil test borings. The work will cost an estimated $18,800, Robert Peckham said, and take about four months.

Advance Payment
"This cost is actually a credit to your account since you're contributing your share in advance," Peckham told the County Board of Commissioners. He detailed a break-down of expansion work which will be borne by federal, state and local money. The total project is now estimated at $504,000, he said.

The federal share is estimated at $134,500; state, $169,250; with the balance apportioned between an Upper Great Lakes Regional Council grant and local monies. The local share can be credited by "in-kind" contributions such as land costs and money already spent on survey and planning studies, Peckham said.

Approval Predicted
Peckham predicted approval of the local project since recent federal legislation has earmarked tax money for improving airports and airport facilities. Manistique is on the 1970-71 list for funding, he said.

County Road Commission personnel Joe DeWinter, Harold McNamara and Gene Johnson were present to discuss Commission requirements on roads under the Plat Law and the board decided to concur with the adopted standards of 1966-67.

Commissioner Russell Tennant reported work and material estimates for painting and draperies for the sheriff's living quarters. The estimates were referred to the Building and Grounds Committee for evaluation.

Adopt New Ordinance
The board rescinded previous action establishing a County Housing Ordinance upon advice of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress (UPCAP) and adopted a new ordinance containing a "more detailed wording of the actual state housing legislation," as per UPCAP's recommendation. The board then re-appointed their county building authority committee for terms ranging from five to one year.

In other business, reports were heard from Thurman Skarritt Sr., State Association of Commissioners meeting; Ernest Hoholik, 4-County Health Meet; and treasurer William Cowman. Prosecuting Attorney G. S. Johnson was welcomed following his medical confinement in Marquette.

New Freedoms For Miss America Participants

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — A Miss America 1971 unlike its predecessors, will be allowed to give her opinions on marijuana smoking, the Vietnam war and other controversial issues. But sex remains taboo.

In revealing a major departure from past tradition, Miss America officials emphasized Wednesday that questions of a "disastrous personal nature" such as, "Do you use the pill?" would remain on the taboo list during the contest here in September.

Albert Marks, chairman of the pageant executive committee, said he had lifted the prohibition against controversial topics because "I took a good look at the whole picture."

"We were always afraid youngsters with no prior background would put a foot in their mouth, but today's youthful society doesn't need over-protection," Marks said, however, that contestants would not be required to give their opinion.

Recently, Katherine Huppe of Helena, Mont., resigned as Miss Montana, citing restrictions on what she could say and do about politics and other current events.

Miss Huppe, 18, said that after she won the title she had to sign a contract forbidding her to write anything not approved by the sponsoring Billings Jaycees and to campaign for any political candidate or cause.

Marks said a prohibition against support of political candidates and parties would remain.

"The Miss America Pageant is not politically motivated or politically oriented but added that the lifting of prohibitions on other controversial down to state and local pageant levels.

Prohibitions against the contestants socializing during the week-long pageant with any men, including their fathers, will remain, Marks said.

"We don't want to give the public the impression of any wrongdoing here," Marks said.

Perry, Perranoski Squelch Tigers 2-1

(AP) — As the Minnesota Twins and a line double to the left field filed into the dressing room wall in the eighth.

Wednesday night, Jim Perry, "He'll hit a good pitch, a bad walked up to Ron Perranoski pitch," Perry said of Wert. "He and planted a kiss on his always dangerous. No matter where they put him in the line.

Perry and Perranoski come-up." Perry nipped Bill Frechan with the Detroit Tigers and gave up Wert's double with one in front of the American out. Elliot Maddox lofted a deep League's West Division over the sacrifice fly to Tony Oliva in California Angels.

Harmon Killebrew drove in and Detroit Manager Mayo both Minnesota runs with a Smith sent Gates Brown in to two-run single in the fifth and bat for losing pitcher Mickey Lolich, 9-11.

Gets 20th Save — "Perry, Perranoski and Lolich," Rigney pulled out Perry and "brow," Twins Manager Bill Smith came back with Jim Rigney bubbled in the dressing room to hit for Brown. Price room, "I'd like to have that grounded out to end the inning for three or four more seasons," and Perranoski retired the Tigers.

Perranoski appeared in his 40th game and posted his 24th save with 1-23 innings of perfect hitting," Rigney said, exact relief of Perry's 15th victory, planning his move. "The margin — most in the American League, of error is nil. Ron came in and Don Wert got the only Detroit did the job. And Perry took it hits — a sixinning single that like a professional that he is."

Perry was not disappointed, and agreed with Rigney's thinking.

"No one can do the job as well as Ron," said Perry. "Besides making them take out one of the best pinch hitters in the league was a smart move by Rigney."

Perranoski now has saved 24 and won six—figuring in more than half of 58 victories.

"I'm not working anymore than I have in the past," Perranoski said. "It's showing up more in the statistics this year."

U. P. Sports Roundup

Engine trouble and some unfortunate crack-ups for Bob Iverson of Hyde, coupled with aggressive driving by Ed Powley of Canadian Soo have altered the standing in the Modified class at the Escanaba Speed Way. Powley has taken a slim 15-point lead in one of the closest races for top modified driver in the history of the speedway. In the sportsman class, Pat Temple of Norway has surged past Wennele Tourangeau of Schaffer to take a 135-point lead, but Dick Peterson, Rapid River, is beginning to challenge with recent track victories. The standings in the modified and sportsman classes following last Saturday's races:

Modified — 1, Ed Powley 3310; 2, Bob Iverson 3295; 3, Jerry Richer 2710; 4, Gene Coleman 2095; 5, Jim Barron 2030; 6, Allen Yelle 1830; 7, Joe Wurth 1810; 8, Ray Gardner 1655; 9, Ken Iverson 1625; and 10, Herb Iverson 1540.

Sportsmen — 1, Pat Temple 2600; Wennele Tourangeau 2465; 3, Larry Duford 2170; 4, Bill Peterson 2136; 5, Dick Peterson 1725; 6, Ken Vasa 1690; 7, Joe Hafekorn 1655; 8, Mike Bubloni 1510; 9, Carl Chultry 1295; and 10, John O'Polka 1140.

Ken Hruska and Paul Specker of Marquette, one of the top best-ball golf combinations in the U. P. grabbed championship honors in the Best-Ball Tournament at Menominee's North Shore Golf Club. The Marquette duo defeated Ralph Haasch and Al Stampa of the host club in Sunday's final round. John Kelly and Connie Nelson of Highland tied for medalist with a score of 69; and Ron Koth and Bill Morrow, also of Highland, placed third in the third flight.

Larry Tiziani, son of the pro at Gogebic Country Club, won the Gogebic Shortstop for the fifth time in the past eight years by downing Norman Backon II of Ironwood. It was Backon's second consecutive runner-up finish, but the young competitor couldn't top the sub-par round of Tiziani in Sunday's final match. Tiziani previously won the tournament in 1963, 1965, 1967 and 1968.

The colorful and controversial coaching career of William (Sugar) Popp came to a close when the L'Anse Board of Education by a split 5-2 vote terminated his services as basketball coach at L'Anse High School, a position he had occupied for the last seven years. Popp was charged with causing dissension, division and conflict in the athletic department; using poor judgment in execution of his assignments; and in the establishment of priorities; and continued disregard for school policies, rules and regulations. Popp plans to remain as a physical education instructor in the high school.

Jim Magnuson, Marquette hurler with the Chicago White Sox, was tagged with his first major league defeat in Saturday's game with the Detroit Tigers. Magnuson pitched six innings, giving up six hits and five runs while striking out two and walking two batters. Magnuson's record is 0-1 since being called up early in July.

Michigan Hotel Climbs In Loop

7 - Michigan Hotel vs. Gladstone Merchants
8:30 - Mead Paper vs. Jolly Roger

Michigan Hotel climbed out of the cellar of the senior softball league Wednesday, beating Independents 9-2 to pull even with the Independents in the league standings.

In other games, Goebels nipped the Gladstone Merchants 9-8 and Jolly Roger outslugged Floyd's Service of Trenary 15-13.

Doe Crochane and Rick Odgers led a balanced attack for Michigan Hotel with two hits each. Phil Dambrosia paced the Independents with two hits.

Michigan Hotel utilized walks and errors to take an early lead with three runs in the first inning and added two more in the third. The early runs chased starter and loser Art Vandamme from the mound in the third inning. He was relieved by Dickie Lewis. Jack Picard went the distance to grab the win for Michigan Hotel.

Jolly Roger had to overcome a seven-run deficit to grab its victory at Trenary. Jolly Roger collected 16 hits in the battle with Rick Kuchenburg getting three. Sonny Pasanen's home run highlighted Trenary's 12-hit attack.

A come-from-behind challenge failed for the Gladstone Merchants as Goebel held on to an eight-run lead to win 9-8.

Goebel exploded for eight runs in the first inning highlighted by a grand slam home run by Dick Johnson. It was Johnson's second hit and run in the inning.

Gladstone came back with a run in the first and five runs in the second on key hits by Dave Ingebrigtsen and Bill Shope. Another run in the fourth inning brought Gladstone within one run, but a sacrifice fly by Dan Villeneuve scored Greg Johnson with the run that proved to be the margin of victory.

Gladstone challenged in the bottom of the seventh on an inside the park home run by Bob Grenier, but the rally fell short.

Dick Johnson and Dan Mylander lead the Goebel batters with three hits while Ingebrigtsen and Larry Valente paced Gladstone with two hits each. Jim Almonroeder picked up the victory for Goebel and Mel LaCrosse suffered the loss.

RICH SERVANT OF KIWANIS took a swing at a fast ball Wednesday night in a Minor League baseball game at Lemmer School, but all he got was a foul ball. The ball got past VFW catcher Ken Schaut and umpire Noa Gannon and rolled harmlessly to the backstop. VFW nipped Kiwanis 3-2. Many of the youngsters in the league will move up next summer to the parent Little League.

Nicklaus-Palmer Favored In 4-Ball

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — "I've got me a horse, man, good as Nashua," said Bert Greene. "All I've got to do is just ride him." Greene, a hard-hitting youngster who has yet to score his first official victory on the pro tour, has Billy Casper as a partner in the $200,000 National Four Ball Championship.

The event, last played in 1968, started a 72-hole run today on the plush, 7,045-yard, par-71 Laurel Valley Golf Club, Arnold.

Palmer's home course. It's a team championship in which 60 teams of two players each keep their score on the better ball. Players picked their own partners, with the duo of Palmer and Jack Nicklaus the heavy favorites. Nicklaus, the recently crowned British Open champion, had business commitments in New York and Michigan early in the week and did not arrive in time for a practice round.

Some other top teams include George Archer and Bobby Nichols, winners of the last Four Ball, Ken Still and Gene Littler, winners of last year's team CBS Classic, brothers Dave and Mike Hill, Bruce Devlin and Bob Charles, Miller Barber and Don January.

Greene, a lean, 26-year-old with thinning blond hair, got parried with Casper almost by accident.

"I had a long-standing agreement with Gary Player to play with him the next time we had the Four Ball," Casper said. "Then Gary decided to go home to South Africa after the British Open."

"Well, back in January, Bert had asked me to play with him. I told him I would if something happened that Gary didn't play. So when he dropped out, I went with Bert."

Pirates Boost League Lead:

Reliever Relieves As Starter

By The Associated Press
Brude Dal Canton came through with a key relief job for the Pittsburgh Pirates—as a starter.

"I'd rather be a starter but I know I'll be back in the bullpen," Dal Canton said Wednesday night after working 7-2-3 innings and getting the victory in the Pirates' 5-3 triumph that boosted to two games their lead in the National League East over the New York Mets, who lost to San Diego 5-4 in 10 innings.

In other NL action Wednesday, Houston hammered St. Louis 13-9, Los Angeles outlasted Montreal 12-10, the Chicago Cubs clubbed Cincinnati 10-3 and Philadelphia topped San Francisco 5-3.

"I was happy to get four or five innings, anything else was a bonus," Manager Danny Murtagh said following Dal Canton's second major league start. He started against Los Angeles in 1967 and lost.

Saved By Giusti
The 28-year-old right-hander, 5-1, had a five-hitter and a 5-1 lead before running into trouble in the eighth and being saved by bullpen colleague Dave Giusti.

Giusti opened the eighth with a double and, with two out, scored on Mike Lum's triple that finished Dal Canton for the night. Orlando Cepeda singled in a run and the bases were loaded before Giusti got out of the inning.

The Pirates scored twice in the first, one run scoring on Willie Stargell's double, and twice in the third on Dave Cash's bases loaded single. The third-inning runs were unearned.

Ivan Murrell's RBI single with two-out in the 10th off Nolan Ryan got San Diego by the Mets, who had taken a 4-3 lead on Bud Harrelson's sacrifice fly in the ninth only to have the Padres tie it 4-4 on Nate Colbert's leadoff homer in the bottom of the ninth. Murrell followed with

League To Call 1st Witnesses

BOSTON (AP) — The American League planned to call its witnesses today at a National Labor Relations Board hearing into the firing in 1968 of umpires Bill Valentine and Al Salerno.

Atty. James Gerner, counsel for the league, said he thought one day would be sufficient to present his witnesses, thus ending eight days of hearings before board Examiner David Davidson.

Davidson then will give both sides several weeks in which to file briefs before he offers an opinion—one that can be overruled by board officials in Washington, and one that requires Federal Court concurrence if either side refuses to implement his decision.

Atty. Henry Killehar, counsel for Valentine and Salerno, rested his case Wednesday, following two days of testimony by American League President Joe Cronin.

Salerno, a major league umpire for seven years, and Valentine, a six-year veteran, contend in an unfair labor practice suit that they were fired for trying to organize a collective bargaining unit for American League umpires.

Days Or Weeks Apart, Owners Report On Talks

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Days and possibly weeks apart" is how the owners of the 26 National Football League teams describe their stalemated and acrimonious negotiations with the striking NFL Players Association.

And, George Halas, the 75-year-old patriarch of the Chicago Bears and one of the NFL's organizers a half-century ago, says the owners "would be willing to do without pro football for one year to retain our management position."

John Mackey, NFLPA president, said, however, his group hopes "all NFL teams will be in camp by Saturday."

The owners agreed late Wednesday to accept federal mediation in the contract dispute but refused to go to Washington, D.C., for any negotiations.

Hearing Scheduled
So, Baltimore, 30 miles from the nation's capital, is the site today for a scheduled 1 p.m. EDT, Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service meeting on what the owners say is an "impasse with no immediate solution."

"Our negotiating committee will be in Baltimore and is anxious to commence negotiations with the NFL owners in around-the-clock efforts to solve all issues under discussion," Mackey said.

The owners weren't saying if they'd show up.

At one point Wednesday the NFLPA said it wouldn't budge from Washington.

FMCS' first session on the dispute was held Wednesday night in Washington, Mackey and a dozen or so players showed up. The owners didn't.

The NFLPA said the failure of the owners to appear was "typical of the type of ridiculous and costly delay that has prevailed throughout these negotiations."

End Session
The owners, who ended a two-day closed-door session in New York late Wednesday, said the NFLPA had promised a reply sometime this afternoon about a proposal to save the July 31 College All-Star Game at Chicago.

Echoing Halas' comment about doing without pro football for a year was William Clay Ford, Detroit Lions' owner. Calling off the 1970 season, Ford said on returning home from the New York sessions, "is not out of the question, although it is an avenue of action that we the owners would not like to take."

Orioles Nearly Perfect, 19 Straight Over Royals

By The Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles, kings in the East, have been perfect for over a year against their Kansas City cousins.

The Orioles streaked to their 19th consecutive victory over the Royals and 11th straight at Kansas City, winning 4-3 in 13 innings.

In other AL games, Boston swept a day-night twinbill from the Angels, 7-4, and 8-3, Oakland edged Washington 4-3, Milwaukee topped New York 4-1, Cleveland belted Chicago 6-2 and Minnesota bested Detroit 2-1.

The Orioles kept their string alive when pinch-hitter Chico Salmon drove in the winning run with a two-out infield hit in the 13th inning.

Lost First Game
Baltimore dropped its first game to the two-year old expansion club on May 9, 1969 and hasn't lost since. It was their 11th straight victory in Kansas City without a loss.

The Royals had pushed across a pair of runs in the eighth to tie it at 3-3 on singles by Pat Kelly, Lou Piniella and Bob Oliver and walks to Ed Kirkpatrick and Cookie Rojas.

Carl Yastrzemski collected three hits in each game, increasing his average to .323 to move into contention for his fourth batting title in the double victory over the Angels.

Yastrzemski's .323 clip as he increased his hitting streak to 12 consecutive games with 23 hits in 44 attempts. Yastrzemski had three singles in the opener while Boston teammate Reggie Smith drove in three runs with a double and triple.

In the nightcap, the Boston slugger had a pair of singles and a double while John Kennedy had a homer and George Thomas a two-run double. Tom Egan and Roger Repoz had homered for the Angels.

Title No Concern
"This is as well as I have ever hit," Yastrzemski said. "I've had some luck but those things

Lombardi's Rips Paper Mill 9-5

Lombardi's was never in trouble as they beat Paper Mill 9-5 in city slow pitch softball Wednesday night. A three-inning cushion in the early innings paved the way for Joe Heller to pick up the mound decision for Lombardi's while Joe Aiken was tagged with the loss for the Paper Mill.

Denny Erickson of Lombardi's and Bob Trombley of the Paper Mill paced their respective teams in hitting with three safeties.

Extra base hits included triples by Bill DeHahn and Joe DeMay for Lombardi's and Trombley of the Paper Mill. Dick Plouff had a homer for Lombardi's and Jim McDonald had a round tripper for the Paper Mill.

happen when you're going good. I'm not worried about the batting title though. I've been there five times before, winning three and losing two."

Felipe Alou opened the A's eighth inning with a homer and after a walk, Knowles came on. Joe Budnick ripped a pinch double to tie it at 3-3 before Knowles got the next two batters. The left-hander then walked Dick Green intentionally. Then with Dave Duncan at bat, Knowles' pickoff throw to first went wild and the winning run came across.

Paul Casanova had a homer for the Senators.

Brewers' Blast
Consecutive fifth inning homers by Ted Savage and Bob Burda snapped a 1-1 tie and sent the Brewers on their way to their first triumph over the Yankees this season. Bob Bolin tossed a six-hitter for the winners.

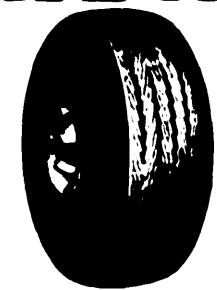

Cleveland got three runs in the third inning on run-scoring doubles by Buddy Bradford and Eddie Leon and a RBI single from Jack Heideman in coasting to their victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Michigan State will head south in 1971 to open its football season, playing Georgia Tech.

League To Call 1st Witnesses

BOSTON (AP) — The American League planned to call its witnesses today at a National Labor Relations Board hearing into the firing in 1968 of umpires Bill Valentine and Al Salerno.

Atty. James Gerner, counsel for the league, said he thought one day would be sufficient to present his witnesses, thus ending eight days of hearings before board Examiner David Davidson.

Davidson then will give both sides several weeks in which to file briefs before he offers an opinion—one that can be overruled by board officials in Washington, and one that requires Federal Court concurrence if either side refuses to implement his decision.

Atty. Henry Kalleher, counsel for Valentine and Salerno, rested his case Wednesday, following two days of testimony by American League President Joe Cronin.

Salerno, a major league umpire for seven years, and Valentine, a six year veteran, contend in an unfair labor practice suit that they were fired for trying to organize a collective bargaining unit for American League umpires.

Cronin said Wednesday that "I still maintain that negotiations of contracts (with league umpires) are individual matters..." but said the two were fired because of "arrogance" and failure to keep an even temper.

"An umpire must exercise patience and judgement," said Cronin, who also said he had been unaware at the time that Salerno and Valentine were involved in any union organizational activity.

Orioles Nearly Perfect, 19 Straight Over Royals

By The Associated Press
The Baltimore Orioles, kings in the East, have been perfect for over a year against their Kansas City cousins.

The Orioles streaked to their 19th consecutive victory over the Royals and 11th straight at Kansas City, winning 4-3 in 13 innings.

In other AL games, Boston swept a day-night twinbill from the Angels, 7-4, and 8-3, Oakland edged Washington 4-3, Milwaukee topped New York 4-1, Cleveland belted Chicago 6-2 and Minnesota bested Detroit 2-1.

The Orioles kept their string alive when pinch-hitter Chico Salmon drove in the winning run with a two-out infield hit in the 13th inning.

Lost First Game
Baltimore dropped its first game to the two-year old expansion club on May 9, 1969 and hasn't lost since. It was their 11th straight victory in Kansas City without a loss.

The Royals had pushed across a pair of runs in the eighth to tie it at 3-3 on singles by Pat Kelly, Lou Piniella and Bob Oliver and walks to Ed Kirkpatrick and Cookie Rojas.

Carl Yastrzemski collected three hits in each game, increasing his average to .323 to move into contention for his fourth batting title in the double victory over the Angels.

Yax, hitting at a .523 clip as he increased his hitting streak to 12 consecutive games with 23 hits in 44 attempts, Yastrzemski had three singles in the opener while Boston teammate Reggie Smith drove in three runs with a double and triple.

In the nightcap, the Boston slugger had a pair of singles and a double while John Kennedy had a homer and George Thomas a two-run double. Tom Egan and Roger Repoz had homered for the Angels.

Title No Concern
"This is as well as I have ever hit," Yastrzemski said. "I've had some luck but those things

Lombardi's Rips Paper Mill 9-5

Lombardi's was never in trouble as they beat Paper Mill 9-5 in city slow pitch softball Wednesday night. A three-run cushion in the early innings paved the way for Joe Heller to pick up the mound decision for Lombardi's while Joe Aiken was tagged with the loss for the Paper Mill.

Denny Erickson of Lombardi's and Bob Trombley of the Paper Mill paced their respective teams in hitting with three safeties.

Extra base hits included triples by Bill DeHahn and Joe DeMay for Lombardi's and Trombley of the Paper Mill. Dick Plouff had a homer for Lombardi's and Jim McDonald had a round tripper for the Paper Mill.

happen when you're going good. I'm not worried about the batting title though. I've been there five times before, winning three and losing two."

Oakland erupted for three eighth-inning runs, the last coming on Washington reliever Darold Knowles' throwing error to overcome the Senators.

Felipe Alou opened the A's eighth with a homer and after a walk, Knowles came on. Joe Rudi ripped a pinch double to tie it at 3-3 before Knowles got the next two hitters. The left-hander then walked Dick Green intentionally. Then with Dave Duncan at bat, Knowles' pickoff throw to first went wild and the winning run came across.

Paul Casanova had a homer for the Senators.

Brewers' Blast
Consecutive fifth inning homers by Ted Savage and Bob Burda snapped a 1-1 tie and sent the Brewers on their way to their first triumph over the Yankees this season. Bob Bolin tossed a six-hitter for the winners.

Cleveland got three runs in the third inning on run-scoring doubles by Buddy Bradford and Eddie Leon and a RBI single from Jack Heideman in coasting to their victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Michigan State will head south in 1971 to open its football season, playing Georgia Tech.

Days Or Weeks Apart, Owners Report On Talks

BALTIMORE (AP) — "Days and possibly weeks apart" is how the owners of the 26 National Football League teams describe their stalemated and acrimonious negotiations with the striking NFL Players Association.

And, George Halas, the 75-year-old patriarch of the Chicago Bears and one of the NFL's organizers a half-century ago, says the owners "would be willing to do without pro football for one year to retain our management position."

John Mackey, NFLPA president, said, however, his group hopes "all NFL teams will be in camp by Saturday."

The owners agreed late Wednesday to accept federal mediation in the contract dispute but refused to go to Washington, D.C., for any negotiations.

Hearing Scheduled

So, Baltimore, 30 miles from the nation's capital, is the site today for a scheduled 1 p.m., EDT, Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service meeting on what the owners say is an "impasse with no immediate solution."

"Our negotiating committee will be in Baltimore and is anxious to commence negotiations with the NFL owners in around-the-clock efforts to solve

all issues under discussion," Mackey said.

The owners weren't saying if they'd show up.

At one point Wednesday the NFLPA said it wouldn't budge from Washington.

FMCS' first session on the dispute was held Wednesday night in Washington, Mackey and a dozen or so players showed up. The owners didn't and the NFLPA said the failure of the owners to appear was "typical of the type of ridiculous and costly delay that has prevailed throughout these negotiations."

End Session

The owners, who ended a two-day closed-door session in New York late Wednesday, said the NFLPA had promised a reply sometime this afternoon about a proposal to save the July 31 College All-Star Game at Chicago.

Echoing Halas' comment about doing without pro football for a year was William Clay Ford, Detroit Lions' owner. Calling off the 1970 season, Ford said on returning home from the New York sessions, "is not out of the question, although it is an avenue of action that we the owners would not like to take."

'Art On Rocks' Show To Begin

MARQUETTE — You might think "Art on the Rocks" applies to an event that was in a state of disaster or ruin.

But such is not the case with the outdoor art exhibit sponsored by Lake Superior Art Association and called "Art on the Rocks."

For the 11th year it will bring exhibitors from across the Upper Peninsula, Lower Michigan and Wisconsin to the grounds of Presque Isle Saturday and Sunday.

Last year over 100 artists participated in the show under the pine and birch trees overlooking Lake Superior.

Scheduled daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., "Art on the Rocks" will feature pottery, paintings, jewelry, sculpture, rosemaking, stichery macramé, prints and other original arts and crafts by artists of all ages, having a degree of skill ranging from student through professional to Sunday painter.

Heart Transplant Success, Kidney Recipients Okay

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Vital signs were reported stable Wednesday for Cordell Robinson, 48, a music teacher in the industrial suburb of River Rouge, who received a new heart in an operation Tuesday.

Robinson received the heart of Gary Wright Jr., 23, of Wilmington, Del., who was fatally injured in an auto accident in Delaware.

Dr. Donald Kahn, who headed the University of Michigan Medical Center team, said that Robinson was alert Wednesday. Kahn said he had an excellent night following the surgery.

Robinson's heart muscle was degenerating, requiring the operation. Two kidneys also taken from the accident victim were transplanted, one in Douglas P. Roberts, 51, of Saginaw, and the other into James R. Bailey, 35, of Milan. They were also reported recovering from the operations favorably.

New Campsites Proposed By DNR

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Jett Sietsma, D-Grand Rapids, reports the Department of Natural Resources is building new campsites in the beach area of Holland State Park. Sietsma had opposed removal of the sites from the waterfront area to further back from shore. He said it would represent an inconvenience to campers and a hazard to children. The Natural Resources Department Parks Division confirmed it is starting planning on the sites. Some $40,000 is available for the construction of up to 50 sites, the division reported.

ZOOS AND CIRCUSES are always fun, and especially so when children "make believe" one and take part in all its planning, decorating, and costuming. Children of the Cornell School (above) staged their zoo-circus as part of the Community School Program. In Escanaba at the Washington School (below) the Tot Lot boys and girls shared the fun of an indoor project — cutting out "boats" with scissors and paper.

Play, Learning Coordinated In Tot Lot Project

By BOB KOSKI

Community School Director For the past four weeks, Escanaba Area's Community Schools have been filled with song and the smell of paste.

Approximately 400 area youngsters from four to eight years of age are attending the Tot Lot program—a supervised playgroup program that correlates play activities with planned learning experience.

It prepares preschoolers for kindergarten and encourages all children to cooperate, share and express themselves in creative experiences.

Tot Lot Centers in each of the 10 public elementary schools now provide an indoor - outdoor program of games, arts and crafts, music, rhymes, physical education, story telling, movies and finger plays.

All activities are correlated around a specific theme each week. The themes for the six-week program—(Health and Safety, Let's Pretend, Nursery Rhymes and Fairy Tales, Under the Water and Out in Space, Around the World, and Circus-Zoo), were selected by the staff of 24 Tot Lot leaders and assistants at one of the first meetings held prior to the beginning of the program.

The staff continues to meet each Friday with Mrs. Beverly Moraco, supervisor of the Tot Lot Program in the formulation and exchange of new ideas, workshop experiences, and the correlation of the program.

The Tot Lot Center at the Cornell Elementary School is under the tutelage of Marilyn Lark and Donna Hamilton; at Ford River — Mrs. Barbara Lindstrom and Joyce McDermott; at Franklin—Lori Dee Valencio and Mary Bisdee; at Jefferson—Lynn Olson, Susan Micensky and Nancy Olsen; at

Lemmer—Center No. 1—Mrs. Ann Flx, Darlene Erickson and Lynn Schnakenberg — Center No. 2—Sandra Glaeser and Diane Marrier; at Pine Ridge —Susan Scham and Anna Mae Moniowczak; at Soo Hill—Marilyn K. ## UAW, Caterpillar Talking Contract

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—New contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers Union and Caterpillar Tractor Co. were to begin here today at the Pere Marquette Hotel.

The UAW represents 32,000 hourly rated employees of Caterpillar, and claims that some of its benefits there exceed those included in current contracts with the automotive Big Three of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

3 MSU Employees Stricken; Reason Still Not Known

EAST LANSING (AP)—Three Michigan State University employees remained hospitalized today after being overcome at an underground water-pumping station.

The first man stricken was listed in fair condition and the other two were in serious condition.

They apparently were overcome by lack of sufficient oxygen, said Cpl. Harold Henderson of the campus police.

He said one man fell unconscious and the other two were in semi-shock when they were removed from the 15-foot deep pit.

One man, Edward Bernham, 38, a campus physical plant employee, was found screaming for help at the bottom of a manhole Tuesday afternoon. The other two men were overcome Wednesday while exploring the area and searching for any possible toxic gas.

Henderson said that no toxic gas was found. However, he said samples showed that the amount of oxygen was only 10 to 12 percent, compared to the normal 20 percent. The area was sealed off pending further study.

Carl Eigenauer, safety engineer for the university's department of public safety, fell unconscious soon after entering the hole Wednesday afternoon. The other man taken to a hospital Wednesday was Donald Schaible, electrician for the university's physical plant.

They were taken to Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

'Art On Rocks' Show To Begin

MARQUETTE — You might think "Art on the Rocks" applies to an event that was in a state of disaster or ruin.

But such is not the case with the outdoor art exhibit sponsored by Lake Superior Art Association and called "Art on the Rocks."

For the 11th year it will bring exhibitors from across the Upper Peninsula, Lower Michigan and Wisconsin to the grounds of Presque Isle Saturday and Sunday.

Last year over 100 artists participated in the show under the pine and birch trees overlooking Lake Superior.

Scheduled daily from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m., "Art on the Rocks" will feature pottery, paintings, jewelry, sculpture, rosemaking, stitchery macramae, prints and other original arts and crafts by artists of all ages, having a degree of skill ranging from student through professional to Sunday painter.

ZOOS AND CIRCUSES are always fun, and especially so when children "make believe" one and take part in all its planning, decorating, and costuming. Children of the Cornell School (above) staged their zoo-circus as part of the Community School Program. In Escanaba at the Washington School (below) the Tot Lot boys and girls shared the fun of an indoor project — cutting out "boats" with scissors and paper.

Heart Transplant Success, Kidney Recipients Okay

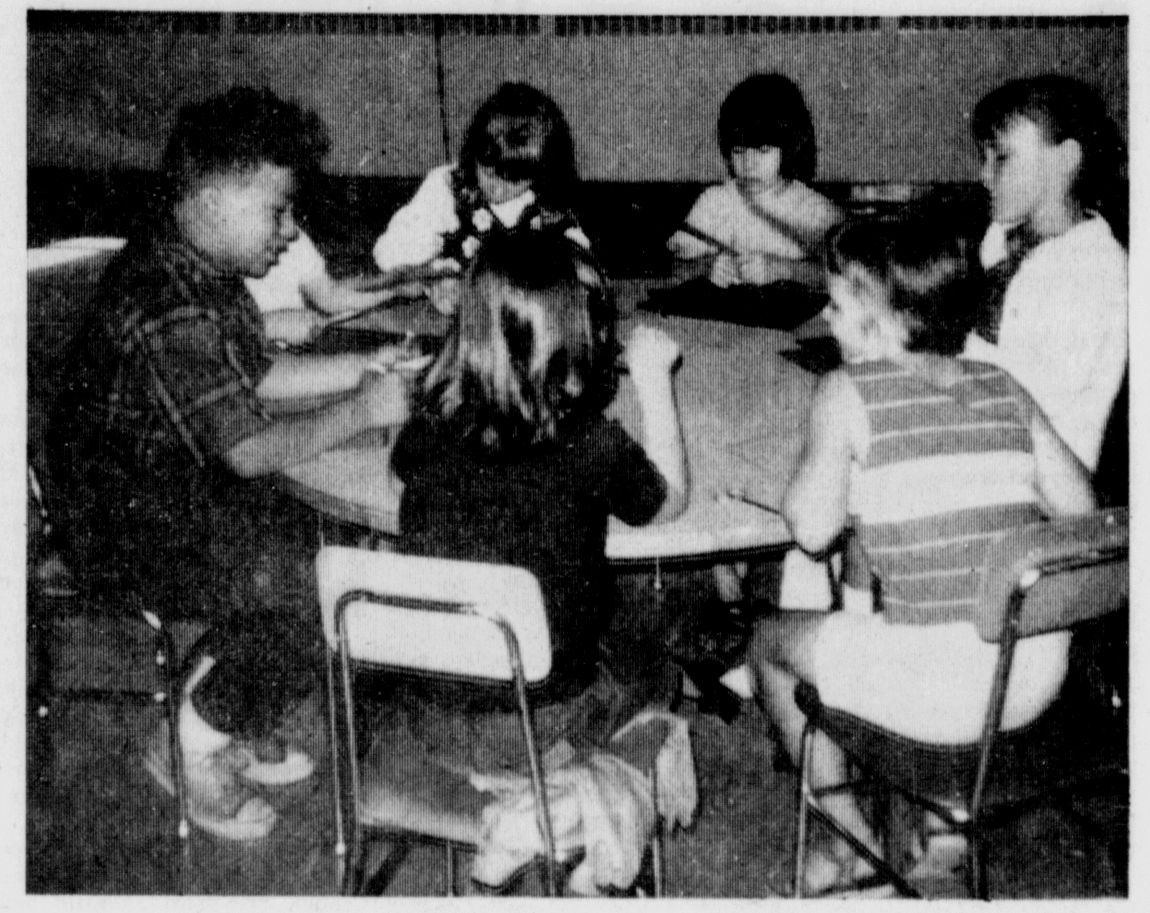

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Vital signs were reported stable Wednesday for Cordell Robinson, 48, a music teacher in the industrial suburb of River Rouge, who received a new heart in an operation Tuesday.

Robinson received the heart of Gary Wright Jr., 23, of Wilmington, Del., who was fatally injured in an auto accident in Delaware.

Dr. Donald Kahn, who headed the University of Michigan Medical Center team, said that Robinson was alert Wednesday. Kahn said he had an excellent night following the surgery.

Robinson's heart muscle was degenerating, requiring the operation.

Two kidneys also taken from the accident victim were transplanted, one in Douglas P. Roberts, 51, of Saginaw, and the other into James R. Bailey, 35, of Milan. They were also reported recovering from the operations favorably.

New Campsites Proposed By DNR

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Jelt Sietsema, D-Grand Rapids, reports the Department of Natural Resources is building new campsites in the beach area of Holland State Park. Sietsema had opposed removal of the sites from the waterfront area to further back from shore. He said it would represent an inconvenience to campers and a hazard to children. The Natural Resources Department Parks Division confirmed it is starting planning on the sites. Some $40,000 is available for the construction of up to 50 sites, the division reported.

Play, Learning Coordinated In Tot Lot Project

By BOB KOSKI
Community School Director

For the past four weeks, Escanaba Area's Community Schools have been filled with song and the smell of paste.

Approximately 400 area youngsters from four to eight years of age are attending the Tot Lot program—a supervised playground program that correlates play activities with planned learning experience.

It prepares preschoolers for kindergarten and encourages all children to cooperate, share and express themselves in creative experiences.

Tot Lot Centers in each of the 10 public elementary schools now provide an indoor - outdoor program of games, arts and crafts, music, rhythms, physical education, story telling, movies and finger plays.

All activities are correlated around a specific theme each week. The themes for the six-week program—(Health and Safety, Let's Pretend, Nursery Rhymes and Fairy Tales, Under the Water and Out in Space, Around the World, and Circus-Zoo)—were selected by the staff of 24 Tot Lot leaders and assistants at one of the first meetings held prior to the beginning of the program.

The staff continues to meet each Friday with Mrs. Beverly Moraco, supervisor of the Tot Lot Program in the formulation and exchange of new ideas, workshop experiences, and the correlation of the program.

The Tot Lot Center at the Cornell Elementary School is under the tutelage of Marilyn Lark and Donna Hamilton; at Ford River — Mrs. Barbara Lindstrom and Joyce McDermott; at Franklin—Lori Dee Valencic and Mary Bisdee; at Jefferson—Lynn Olson, Susan Micensky and Nancy Olsen; at

3 MSU Employees Stricken; Reason Still Not Known

EAST LANSING (AP)—Three Michigan State University employees remained hospitalized today after being overcome at an underground water-pumping station.

The first man stricken was listed in fair condition and the other two were in serious condition.

They apparently were overcome by lack of sufficient oxygen, said Cpl. Harold Henderson of the campus police.

He said one man fell unconscious and the other two were in semi-shock when they were removed from the 15-foot deep pit.

One man, Edward Bernham, 38, a campus physical plant employee, was found screaming for help at the bottom of a manhole Tuesday afternoon. The other two men were overcome Wednesday while exploring the area and searching for any possible toxic gas.

Henderson said that no toxic gas was found. However, he said samples showed that the amount of oxygen was only 10 to 12 percent, compared to the normal 20 percent. The area was sealed off pending further study.

Carl Eigenauer, safety engineer for the university's department of public safety, fell unconscious soon after entering the hole Wednesday afternoon. The other man taken to a hospital Wednesday was Donald Schaible, electrician for the university's physical plant.

They were taken to Sparrow Hospital in Lansing.

UAW, Caterpillar Talking Contract

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—New contract negotiations between the United Auto Workers Union and Caterpillar Tractor Co. were to begin here today at the Pere Marquette Hotel.

The UAW represents 32,000 hourly rated employees of Caterpillar, and claims that some of its benefits there exceed those included in current contracts with the automotive Big Three of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

Major Wire User Prefers Aluminum

NEW YORK (AP) — The first major wire user to turn from copper to aluminum reports that the change-over has already helped profits.

RTE Corp., which makes transformers, said earnings for the first quarter of its fiscal year were 13 cents per share, better than expected. They would have been even better except that a trucking strike cut down on shipments of finished products, the company said.

Loren D. Barre, vice president of the firm, said earnings for the current year, ending next March, are expected to be 180 cents per share. He added that a major factor in the expected higher earnings is the use of aluminum instead of copper.

The company, which uses 750,000 lbs. of copper per month, announced in February it would shift over to the use of aluminum wire instead.

Although, a thicker aluminum wire is needed to carry the same amount of current, the light metal is only 29 cents per pound, compared to 60 cents for copper. Also, a pound of aluminum is more bulky and therefore makes more feet of wire.

Wayward Economy Needs Your Positive Thoughts

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — This wayward economy might begin to straighten itself out quickly if ordinary Americans shared the Nixon administration's interpretation of current events.

In recent days the President and his aids have begun talking it up, assuring the citizenry that the worst has been reached and past, and that now we may raise our sights and concentrate our efforts on the new expansion.

Fact Discouraging

The most encouraging interpretations are being put on some pretty discouraging facts.

—Prices are 6 per cent higher than a year ago, but we are reminded that they rose at only a 4.8 per cent annual rate in June.

—Unemployment continues to rise, perhaps to 5 per cent, but we are told this is as much from expansion in the number of available workers as it is from layoffs.

Interest rates should start declining, we are told, but the fact is they are at century-high levels. Mortgage rates, too, may have reached their peak, it is said, but that peak is still Everest-like for prospective home buyers.

The economy has, by many measures, reached a very depressed state. But why look down when the sky is above? We are told, therefore, that the economy "has bottomed out," that we "will definitely see the economy turning up."

Perhaps this outlook really isn't a subjective interpretation made by men who must prove their policies are working. Maybe this is really the way things are. Could this really be the watershed?

Consumers Saving

A lot of consumers don't think so. Polls show them in a saving rather than a spending mood, pessimistic about the general outlook and concerned about their investments, their jobs, their ability to cope with inflation plus recession.

So? What does a psychological disposition on the part of ordinary Americans have to do with the economy's future? How is a mood related to the financial fortunes of business and government?

In this way: The expected upturn is to a great extent predicated on the assumption that consumer spending is due to increase sharply for a great range of products and services. But maybe the consumer isn't ready to spend.

Why not? His rate of savings has risen lately to more than 7 per cent; he's got the money — the elimination of the surtax has added a few more dollars to his paycheck. And some of those wage increases have been pretty hefty, too.

True. But studies of consumer behavior in recent years, mainly by Dr. George Katona of the University of Michigan, have demonstrated that the consumer may have the ability to buy but not the desire to buy.

What determines his willingness? So many factors that all cannot be listed. But among the major ones are his job security, his earnings outlook, his confidence in economic policy, the state of the war.

May Borrow On Future In other words, depending upon many factors, he may stuff his mattress with dollars or he may spend them. He may even be willing, if he feels the future is bright, to buy when he doesn't have money, to borrow on his future.

What determines his willingness? So many factors that all cannot be listed. But among the major ones are his job security, his earnings outlook, his confidence in economic policy, the state of the war.

Laurie Buried Today; Death Cause Puzzling

LANSING (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled this afternoon for Laurie Murningham, 16-year-old high school junior whose body was found Monday in a swamp southeast of Lansing 11 days after she was kidnapped.

Police continued to search for the man, believed to be a Negro driving a dark blue car with a white top, who forced her at gunpoint on July 9 to leave the west side gift and antique shop where she was working for the summer. The gunman, wearing dark trousers, a yellow pull-over shirt, a beige golf hat and a goatee, also took $64 after striking the shop's proprietor over the head with his pistol.

The body of the girl, one of four children of former Mayor and Mrs. Max E. Murningham, was discovered by two young boys looking for discarded soft drink bottles near a steele game area east of Mason.

Glen Dunn, Ingham County Coroner, said Wednesday he filed a death certificate listing cause of death as unknown. Derold W. Husby, Lansing police chief, earlier said details of the autopsy on the badly decomposed body would not be disclosed.

County pathologists, however, reported their examination showed Miss Murningham had not been shot, stabbed or strangled. There were no broken bones and, although her clothing had been removed and stacked beside her body, she was not sexually molested, the report said. More tests were planned.

Some $16,500 that had been donated as a reward fund for the young woman's safe return was expected to be returned to donors, a friend of the family said. A memorial scholarship fund is being administered by the Michigan National Bank, where contributions may be sent. The family has asked that no flowers be sent.

Mid-July Auto Sales Showing Slight Increase

DETROIT (AP) — Domestic auto sales by the nation's automakers edged ahead slightly in the middle ten days of July compared to last year, with Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp. showing substantial gains.

Chrysler Corp. reported a 12 per cent increase for the period, with American Motors Corp. listing an increase of 62 per cent. These offset declines in sales by General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co., the nation's top two automakers.

During the period from July 11-20, automakers reported sales of 202,886 this year compared to 202,332 last year. This represents a gain of about one-fourth of one per cent. There were eight selling days both years.

Chrysler reported sales of 35,085 new passenger cars this year, compared to 31,236 last year. American Motors, which closed a dealer incentive sales program during the period, had sales of 8,540 new cars, compared to 5,259 in mid-July last year.

GM had sales of 101,585 this year, compared to 103,636 last year, and Ford 57,666 this year and 62,191 in the period a year ago.

Less Airport Use

LANSING (AP) — Operations at Michigan's 12 major airports were down 1.5 per cent during the first six months of the year compared to the same period last year. The State Aeronautics Commission said the airports had 956,339 landings and takeoffs during the first half of 1970, down from 970,002 for the same months in 1969.

Major Wire User Prefers Aluminum

NEW YORK (AP) — The first major wire user to turn from copper to aluminum reports that the change-over has already helped profits.

RTE Corp., which makes transformers, said earnings for the first quarter of its fiscal year were 13 cents per share, better than expected. They would have been even better except that a trucking strike cut down on shipments of finished products, the company said.

Loren D. Barre, vice president of the firm, said earnings for the current year, ending next March, are expected to be 80 cents per share. He added that a major factor in the expected higher earnings is the use of aluminum instead of copper.

The company, which uses 750,000 lbs. of copper per month, announced in February it would shift over to the use of aluminum wire instead.

Although, a thicker aluminum wire is needed to carry the same amount of current, the light metal is only 29 cents per pound, compared to 60 cents for copper. Also, a pound of aluminum is more bulky and therefore makes more feet of wire.
